25,000 PROHIBITED ITEMS DETECTED IN AIR PASSENGERS' BAGGAGE DAILY

Every day, thousands of banned items ranging from lighters to scissors to knives are taken out at airports, aviation security agency BCAS said

1,250 HRS LOST DAILY DUE TO VIOLATION: BCAS

In hand baggage, 26% of the prohibited items found are cigarette lighters, 22% scissors, 16% knives and 14% liquids. In check-in baggage, 44% of prohibited items are power banks, 19% cigarette lighters, 18% loose batteries and 11% laptops. If the passengers did not carry these, around 1,250 hours could be saved, said Zulfiquar Hasan, director-general, Bureau of Civil Aviation Security

3 MINUTES TO CHECK EACH BANNED ITEM

- The BCAS chief said it takes security personnel a minimum of 3 minutes to handle one banned item, adding that the precious time diverted for this could have been utilised by the agency to deal with other, graver threats
- BCAS has asked airport operators not to display commercial ads at security checkpoints, which will now be used to flag proscribed items

CJI proposes court-appointed neutral panel to visit Manipur

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday hauled up the Centre and the Manipur governments over the 14-day delay in filing an FIR over the horrendous sexual assault of two women in the state on May 4. Going forward, it proposed setting up a high powered committee (HPC) to visit Manipur to restore people's faith in the constitutional process.

A bench comprising Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud, and judges J B Pardiwala and Manoj Mishra said the viral video was not an isolated incident as the Centre's affidavit suggested there were other instances of sexual assault.

"What was the police doing from May 4 to May 18? What stood in the way of the police to register the FIR after May 4? A zero FIR (can be filed in any police station regardless of jurisdiction) was registered on May 18. Why was it transferred to a magisterial court on June 21?" the CJI asked. Observing that the incidents of sexual violence in Manipur were of "unprecedented magnitude" and "systemic", the CJI said whatever happened in Manipur cannot be justified by saying it happened elsewhere in the country as well.

The proposed HPC, the CJI said, could comprise women and others with "no political alignment". Sending a court-appointed team will send its own message that the "highest court is deeply concerned", he added.

Noting that the three months have elapsed since the horrific incident, the court said merely entrusting the matter to the CBI or constituting an SIT won't serve the purpose, as the need of the hour is healing and restoring a sense of faith in the administration.

The CJI asked the Manipur government to come back on Tuesday with details on number of zero FIRs on violence against women, FIRs forwarded to police stations, arrests made and statements recorded before magistrates.

BJP projects: Govt drops no-fund circular

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

In a significant move, the Siddaramaiah government, which had issued a circular soon after assuming office to stop release of funds to execute projects launched by the previous BJP government, withdrew it on Monday. The decision came as a big relief for MLAs irrespective of their party affiliation and contractors implementing those projects.

In a circular, Finance Secretary Dr Ekroop Caur said government departments, corporations, boards and authorities have been asked to ensure that work on those projects is executed in a proper manner and release funds for the same as per rules. The administrative secretary has been instructed to take the approval of the ministers concerned to start work on the projects which had been approved by the previous government but not implemented.

The officials have been instructed to go by the budget advisory (2023-24) issued by the Finance Department to implement new projects.

Funds can be released only for schemes which have been approved as ongoing or new schemes. The norms and procedures for approval of ongoing schemes, including modification or addition of a new component, and for new schemes along with guidelines to monitor them have been issued by the Planning Department.

The administrative approval should not be construed as an order to release funds. There should be specific orders for release of funds for various approved schemes. Respective departments should verify guidelines, approvals and action plans of schemes before releasing funds.

Relief to DKS as SC upholds stay on CBI probe

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday upheld the Karnataka High Court order granting interim stay on the CBI probe against Deputy CM DK Shivakumar in a corruption case.

Taking note of the pendency of matter in the high court, a bench of Justices BR Gavai and CT Ravikumar, however, left it for the appellate court to adjudicate the issue of merit and pass the final order. "The petitioner (CBI) would be at liberty to request the HC for expeditious disposal, which shall be considered by the court on its own merits," the SC said.

The order was passed on a petition filed by the CBI against the HC's June order of staying state's order of granting consent to CBI to probe the case.

Appearing for DyCM, senior advocate AM Singhvi apprised the court of the pendency of matter before the HC's division bench and said "interim ladders" were unnecessary.

"The matter was listed for CBI's sur-rejoinder and would have been reserved if not for this. Arguments are over, counter is over. My client's rejoinder is also over. This is on the threshold of being decided. Therefore, today's interim ladder is unnecessary," he said.

RPF constable shoots four in moving train

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

IN a shocking incident, a Railway Protection Force constable fired 12 rounds from his automatic gun aboard a moving train on Monday morning, killing his senior colleague and three other passengers.

Officials said RPF constable Chetan Singh, 33, first shot dead RPF Assistant Sub-Inspector Tika Ram Meena, 57, and another passenger in B5 coach of the Jaipur-Mumbai Central Express at around 5 am. He then gunned down another passenger in a pantry car and one more in a nearby coach. After committing the crime, Singh reportedly tried to flee but was nabbed. The deceased passengers were identified as Abdul Kadarbhai Mohammed Hussain, Asgar Abbas Sheikh, and Sadar Mohammed.

Constable Chetan Singh

An official said the motive behind the shooting is not known as a probe is underway.

According to passengers who were in the train, there was an argument between Singh and his superior.

However, P C Sinha, Inspector General cum Principal Chief Security Commissioner, Western Railway, said Singh had some mental health issues. "There was no altercation. Chetan had a short fuse. He lost his temper and shot his senior, then fired at whoever he saw."

Chetan Singh was working with RPF for 12 years and had just returned from his hometown Hathras, Uttar Pradesh after a 12-day leave.

Gyanvapi mosque a historical wrong, says Yogi Adityanath

I think that the Muslim society should come forward saying a historic mistake has happened and that they want a solution

Yogi Adityanath, UP CM

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

DAYS ahead of the Allahabad High Court's order on a scientific probe into the Gyanvapi mosque premises in Varanasi, UP Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath ruffled many feathers by saying the Muslim community should acknowledge the mosque as a 'historical mistake' and come forward to thrash out a solution.

During a podcast interview with a news agency, the CM, in his first reaction to the controversy, said calling Gyanvapi a mosque was problematic. It should just be called Gyanvapi, he said. "If we call it a mosque, there will be a dispute... What is a trident doing inside a mosque? How is the Jyotirlinga present there? What are the images of deities doing there? We did not put them there. The walls of the structure are screaming to tell the truth," the CM said in reply to a query. "I think the Muslim society should come forward with a proposal that a historic mistake has happened and that they want a solution," he added.

All India Muslim Personal Law Board's Mohd Suleman said the CM's views hurt him.

Nandini ghee: Slugfest over TTD move continues

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

THE political slugfest over non-procurement of Nandini ghee for use in Tirupati laddus continues. Officials from Karnataka Milk Federation Limited (KMF) on Monday said the federation stopped supplying ghee to Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD) one-and-a-half years ago.

The statement came after some leaders of opposition parties alleged that because of the hike in milk prices, KMF is unable to meet the demand to supply ghee to TTD to make the world famous laddus.

A senior official from KMF said, "We stopped supplying ghee to TTD one-and-a-half years ago. TTD invites tenders once in six months and the prices quoted by other producers seem to be attractive to the temple's trust. However, the price of KMF's ghee is low when compared to other producers, including Amul. Nandini ghee costs Rs 610 per kg. Amul sells its ghee for Rs 640."

City schools will admit students fleeing Manipur

Circular applies to all state syllabus schools from classes 1 to 10

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

WITH no sign of peace returning to Manipur, students from that state are approaching educational institutions in Karnataka for admission.

In view of this, the Department of School Education and Literacy (DSEL) has issued a circular to schools to consider their applications for admission as the academic year has already started.

In the circular, School Education Commissioner BB Cauvery stated that a special case will be made for students from Manipur seeking admission in schools of Karnataka.

"If transfer certificates and other school-related documents for enrolment of these students are not available, a special case will be made. They need not provide birth, transfer and other-related certificates while enrolling," she said.

Schools have been informed to take steps to ensure that students from Manipur are enrolled in classes they were studying before leaving their home state. The circular applies to all state syllabus schools from classes 1 to 10.

Cauvery told The New Indian Express that she had received many complaints regarding admission of students from Manipur in state's schools. "While we do not have a proper figure of how many students have come to Karnataka seeking admission, several private schools have approached us seeking guidance on how to deal with the issue. Because of this, we decided to make an exception for students from Manipur," she said.

If transfer certificates and other school-related documents for enrolment of these students are not available, a special case will be made

The Manipuri Meitei Association Bangalore has sent 1,400 kg of items to Manipur

Meitei assn sends relief material, helps students

PURAN CHOUDHARY @Bengaluru

WHILE Manipur is burning 3,400 km away, students and relatives in Bengaluru are struggling to take care of their basic necessities as there is little or no contact with the community back home. The limited internet access has made communication difficult, affecting students' fee payments, rent and even food expenses.

The Manipuri Meitei Association Bangalore (MMAB) has been sending relief material to Manipur and supporting students in the city monetarily and emotionally. So far, the association has transported 1,400 kg of items, including oil packets, vegetables, rice, dal, milk and biscuits. Other essential items such as ORS, toiletries, sanitary pads and first-aid kits were also shipped to the north-eastern state.

Association members told The New Indian Express that as the the national highways are blocked, the local residents are facing difficulty in purchasing essential commodities and the prices have skyrocketed. "More than 50,000 displaced people are staying in 40-45 relief camps," said Ranjana Thiyam.

Recalling horrors of family members, MMAB spokesperson Dhaneshwar Yumnam said, "We hear that relief camps have poor hygienic conditions, no access to healthcare and no psychiatric help to deal with the loss of their family members and homes." Education has come to a standstill, he added.

The association condemned all acts of violence committed against women on both sides and called for peace in the state. It said, "The progress made by the state in the last decade has vanished. We need companies, associations, and governments to help rebuild Manipur. There has been a huge setback. Rights of all citizens need to be restored."

Manipur students in the city living in hostels and paying guest accommodations are unable to do bank transactions and have been borrowing money from associations and family members staying in different states. Many are worried as they haven't heard from their families.

Though the new academic year has begun, many haven't made it to their colleges and institutions in the city.

BIKES, AUTOS OFF E-WAY FROM TODAY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE ban on two-wheelers, autorickshaws and tractors from entering the main carriage of the Bengaluru Mysuru expressway will come into force on Tuesday. The National Highways Authority of India (NHAI), in its notification on July 12, prohibited the entry of two-wheelers, three-wheelers, including e-carts and e-rickshaws, non-motorised vehicles, tractors with or without trailers, multi-axle hydraulic trailer vehicles and quadricycles. Officials from the NHAI said similar to Delhi-Meerut and Delhi-Vadodra expressways, two-wheelers and three-wheelers are banned on the Bengaluru Mysuru expressway.

However, there was no official confirmation on imposing a fine of Rs 500 on banned vehicles entering the e-way. The 119-km e-way, which reduces the travel time between Bengaluru and Mysuru, has been in the news for one or the other reason ever since its official inauguration by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in March.

From January till July, the e-way witnessed 398 accidents with 121 people loosing their lives on the stretch, according to information provided by Union Minister for Road Transport Nitin Gadkari in the ongoing monsoon session of the Lok Sabha.

KSRTC buses to maintain 80 km speed to avoid mishaps

WHILE the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) has banned plying of two-wheelers, autos, tractors, non-motorised vehicles, multi-axle hydraulic trailer vehicles and bullock-carts on the Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway from August 1 to prevent accidents, Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) authorities have also initiated various measures to avoid accidents.

As hundreds of people travel from Mysuru to Bengaluru in KSRTC buses everyday, the authorities of the Mysuru division too have initiated action to prevent accidents on the 118-km stretch where the vehicles will be travelling more than 120 km per hour speed, even though the NHAI had recently set the maximum speed to 100 km per hour.

According to the initiatives adopted by the KSRTC, the bus drivers were directed to drive the vehicles on the first or second lane of the expressway leaving the third right lane for speeding vehicles. The drivers were asked to use the right lane only while overtaking another vehicle in the front.

Apart from maintaining lane discipline, the drivers were asked to look at side mirrors and compulsorily use turn indicators during lane change, they were also asked to maintain the speed to maximum 80 km per hour on the expressway. The drivers were also briefed to remain cautious when they approach near the 25 accident spots which were identified by ADGP (Traffic and Road Safety) Alok Kumar during his recent inspection of the expressway and at spots where villagers cross the expressway to reach the other side.

KSRTC Mysuru Divisional Controller B Srinivas told TNIE that the Mysuru division runs 150 trips per day for one side from Mysuru to Bengaluru.

GIVE BETTER COMPENSATION OR SCRAP PROJECT: PRR LANDLOSERS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A litany of woes overflowed as landlosers, most of them farmers, gave vent to their feelings during the grievance redressal meeting by Bengaluru Development Minister D K Shivakumar on the Peripheral Ring Road (PRR) on Monday afternoon.

A majority of the 40-odd individuals who got an opportunity to speak directly to the minister, said they were willing to part with their land for the sake of a crucial infrastructure project for Bengaluru, provided they were given the right compensation amount. But some called for the PRR project to be scrapped.

A total of 1,810 acres of land spread across 67 villages are being notified for acquisition by Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) for the 73-km project, planned 18 years ago.

Among the strong voices demanding alternative land or a very good compensation was that of Gautam Jain, who will be losing 2 acres of his land at Madanayakanahalli for the project to be executed by Bangalore Development Authority. "The alignment of the road has been changed seven times to favour politicians. The government will never scrap the project because so many politicians and even bureaucrats have purchased land very close to the proposed PRR alignment since 2005, as the value is due to escalate once the road is completed," he said.

The minister nodded in agreement. "We have also submitted a petition signed by 400 landlosers to the minister to denotify our lands and issue a No Objection Certificate, as nothing has been done in the past 18 years," Jain added.

Reverend P G Thomas, Father at the Pentecostal Church in Maruti Nagar, said that nearly 500 members attend the church for prayers. "Vested interests have ensured the alignment passes through the church. I have approached many chief ministers and BDA commissioners in the past for help. What will we do with compensation or alternative land? We want the church to be left untouched," he said.

Striking an emotional note, Vijay Srinivas, president of KEB Employees Layout in Naganahalli, appealed to the minister to settle the long-pending issue during his lifetime. "Please do something before my family frames my photo and puts it up on the wall," he said, creating a lighter moment.

The fact that the minister chose to have an interactive session came in for much appreciation from the landlosers. In a brief address, the minister said the government was keen on going ahead with the PRR. "I personally assure you I will do the best I can within my capacity to help all of you whose land will be acquired for the project," he stressed.

Responding to a query, DK Shivakumar ruled out any differences of opinion between the MLAs and ministers in his party in connection with transfers of officials.

01ST August : I was reading some research recently which points out that every year we move about 4 centimetres further from the Moon and the day gets a few minutes longer. If we were all to come back after about a billion years the Moon would probably be a small dot in the sky and the day would be thirty hours long. I don't know about you, but twenty-four hours is enough for me!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
It is now up to you to determine where you let your feelings take you. This is a time of deep emotion and, in your case, acute sensitivity. If ever you should find yourself feeling a little confused, don't worry - just take a deep breath and count to ten.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
It is almost impossible to see whether you'll be conducting an argument in your head with imaginary opponents, or if it will all break out into the open. Whatever the final outcome, you should leave no stone unturned in your search for the ultimate truth.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
There's something rather magical about this week's planetary alignment. Your greatest strength should be your confidence and belief in your own future, so you may banish self-doubt to the far fringes of existence. And if a friend offers you some much-needed help, don't be too proud to accept.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
If a project or duty at work seems to be coming unstuck, your best option could be to take a step back to your previous position, and see what you did right. Then you'll discover the best way forward from here. It's all very logical really, in spite of what other people think.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You're now into a forty-eight hour phase of potentially extraordinary extravagance. Of course, unless you have large bills due, it is up to you how far you go down the road of converting your hard-earned savings into luxuries and treats. I'm sure you'll stay within your means.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
All great generals know when to make a tactical retreat, maybe even by losing a battle in order to win the war. This same strategy also occurs in the most profound oriental mysticism, so be wise and bend with the times. There's another possibility here, and it's that someone else will hand you victory on a plate!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Partners may appear to be domineering, but in fact they're probably all bluff and bluster. You may confront them or ignore them, depending on your fancy, but in either case you have nothing to worry about. The main thing you have to do is keep a steady nerve.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
So enjoyable and creative is today's planetary potential that it would be a crying shame if you were to be chained to an unavoidable routine at home or at work. Make strenuous efforts to instil your personal talents into all activities at every turn.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You should do yourself a favour and spend as much attention as is necessary to dealing with domestic issues, especially family relationships. Don't be worried about opening an emotional can of worms, for your fears are massively exaggerated - and may come to nothing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Dialogue is absolutely crucial, obviously favouring those of you attending interviews or otherwise having to sell yourselves. Go for a poetic approach and don't just repeat the facts - give them a deeper meaning. You might even find that an apparently dull activity contains hidden interest.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
This should be a time for spending, with the emphasis on domestic items, but not necessities. I mean, there's always room for a little extra luxury. You should perhaps try to get hold of something that you once set your heart on, but were unable to obtain.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You may take the lead today, set the pace and control the emotional agenda. There's no need to wave your arms and shout. Instead you should quietly manoeuvre partners into a position from which they, as well as you, will benefit. It's really quite miraculous!

Don't consider Chinese consortium bid, BHEL told

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

NOTING that national security assumes greater significance than public interest, the Karnataka High Court directed Bharat Heavy Electricals Limited (BHEL) to consider the bid of Macawber Beekay Pvt Ltd for an ash handling package for the thermal power station being set up at Yadadri in the Nalagunda district of Telangana. BHEL has been told to convey its decision within four weeks.

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice MGS Kamal passed the order holding the tender awarded by BHEL to a consortium of BTL EPC Ltd and China-based Fujian Longking Company Ltd as invalid. The bench set aside the letter of intent dated September 29, 2022, issued by BHEL, Industrial Systems Group. The court said it is necessary to note that the office order dated July 23, 2020 was issued by the Ministry of Finance in exercise of Rule 144 in the defence interest of the nation. This court cannot be oblivious to the fact that Fujian Longking Co. Ltd. is a Chinese entity, the court added.

"Considering the nature of the transaction and the nature of work to be carried out by the BTL EPC Ltd. and Fujian Longking Co. Ltd., and also the mandatory requirement of registration with the competent authority not having been complied with, a mere claim of public interest getting adversely affected cannot be pitted against the national interest... The BHEL, Industrial Systems Group, ought to have ensured that there is complete compliance with the office order which has been issued in the interest of national security from the defence perspective which assumes greater national significance, than the public interest as sought to be made out by the Respondent", the court said. Macawber Beekay Pvt Ltd appealed against a single-judge order dated November 2, 2022, dismissing its petition against BHEL awarding the tender to the consortium.

The court said that BTL EPC Ltd., which was not technically qualified, entered into a consortium agreement with Fujian Longking Company Ltd. and jointly submitted the bid. They didn't comply with the mandatory requirement of registering with a competent authority.

CM to decide on demands of pvt transporters

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

TRANSPORT Minister Ramalinga Reddy, who held a second round of meetings with private bus, auto and cab unions on Monday, led by the Federation of Karnataka State Private Transport Associations, said a decision on their major demands of including private buses under the Shakti scheme and providing tax relaxations will have to be taken by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah.

Members of the Federation said the minister had directed transport department officials to address the problems of private travel operators, that include banning bike taxis and regulating private cab aggregators.

Nataraj Sharma of the Federation told TNIE after the meeting, "At the first meeting on July 24, the minister listened to our problems and we submitted our demands. At the second meeting, he directed transport officials to address our demands and take measures to vacate the stay by the High Court, that is restraining the department from acting against bike-hailing service provider Rapido."

"The minister said our major demands of including private buses under the Shakti scheme, where the government reimburses the ticket cost of women passengers and provides road tax relaxation, are yet to be addressed. Reddy has promised to fix a meeting with the chief minister on these demands before August 10," Sharma said.

Action will be taken against those who do not carry out their duty at the hospital... Shouldn't the hospital's cleanliness be maintained till then? - Dinesh Gundu Rao, Health Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HEALTH Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao, who paid a surprise visit to the government-run General Hospital at Jayanagar on Monday, following complaints of irregularities, took officials to task over the lack of cleanliness in the hospital. He questioned the staff on why the premises were not clean, and if funds were not allocated to the hospital from the government.

While one of the staffers tried to explain that funds were provided but had to be processed for the private agency involved in keeping the premises clean, Gundu Rao questioned hospital officials, "Shouldn't the hospital's cleanliness be maintained till then?"

He went around the wards and interacted with some inpatients to know if they were facing any problems.

After concluding his inspection, Gundu Rao spoke to the media and said there were many complaints against hospitals. Doctors were arriving on time, creating hardship for the patients, so he chose to get first-hand information on the state of affairs at the hospital. "Action will be taken against those who do not carry out their duty at the hospital," he said.

Judicial probe on fund misuse

He said those who are claiming there are irregularities at the hospital pertaining to organ theft and sale of orphan corpses, can submit necessary evidence and the government will initiate action against the guilty.

Rao also said the health department has recommended to the state government to carry out a judicial probe on fund misappropriation during the Covid pandemic, in the purchase of medical equipment and other issues.

Man turns himself in after murdering co-worker

ENS @ Bengaluru

A man working in a chicken stall surrendered before the Girinagar police after allegedly murdering his co-worker. The stall owner had provided the two with a bike. On Sunday night, the two drank together. The accused demanded the bike keys from the victim, who refused to hand them over. A fight ensued which allegedly resulted in murder.

The deceased, identified as Tilak Nanda, is from Nepal. The accused has been identified as Siddaraju of Mandya. At 11 pm on Sunday, both reportedly consumed alcohol. Nanda had the bike keys, which Siddaraju wanted. Nanda reportedly refused to give the keys, leading to an argument. An enraged Nanda allegedly hit Siddaraju with a cooker. Then Siddaraju stabbed Nanda repeatedly with a knife, killing him instantly. Early on Monday, Siddaraju went to Girinagar police station and surrendered. The police recovered the victim's body from the crime scene.

Terror suspects didn't know how to use grenade: Cops

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CENTRAL Crime Branch (CCB) sleuths, who seized four live hand grenades as part of the ongoing investigation into the terror module that was busted recently, confirmed that the grenades are of foreign make. It is learnt that the five arrested terror suspects had no knowledge of how to use them.

Police sources, however, said it is difficult to ascertain in which country the grenades were produced. The grenades, which were recovered from a house in Kodigehalli, have been sent to the forensic science laboratory for tests. A senior police officer, who is part of the investigation, said that while it is difficult to establish in which country the grenades were produced, the seized grenades will serve as strong evidence in the case. Further, the officer said that none of the five suspects arrested -- Syed Suhel Khan, Mohammed Umar, Jahid Tabrez, Syed Mudassir Pasha and Mohammed Faisal -- knew how to use the grenade. "It is found that they had stocked the grenades at the behest of their handlers, but had no clue how to use them or any idea whether others would be receiving the grenades from them. They were just waiting for orders from their handlers," the officer said. Also, police have found that all five persons arrested in the case have received funds from a Middle Eastern country. "The funds were transferred online to the bank accounts of the suspects, and all five have received a few lakhs of rupees," the officer said.

Meanwhile, investigations are on to trace Junaid Ahmed, accused number two in the case, who is believed to be absconding in the Middle East. Also, the prime accused in the case and Lashkar-e-Taiba operative Thadiyantavide Nazeer, who is currently in police custody, is reportedly not cooperating with the investigation. Nazeer, an accused in the 2008 serial blasts in Bengaluru, was picked up after investigations revealed that he allegedly radicalised the other accused persons in the case. "We are questioning Nazeer to know whether others are involved in the case. But he is not revealing much," the officer added.

Cong meet in Delhi to discuss LS polls

Discontent among MLAs may not come up; Kharge, Rahul to meet key leaders, ministers

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

THE main agenda of the Congress high command's meeting with key leaders from Karnataka, including Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and ministers, in New Delhi on Wednesday would be to discuss the 2024 Lok Sabha polls.

Senior leader Rahul Gandhi and AICC president Mallikarjuna Kharge are likely to discuss with the state leaders the strategies for the crucial polls, including a plan in case JDS allies with BJP, sources said.

The high command has also called former chief minister Jagadish Shettar and former deputy chief minister Laxman Savadi, who joined Congress from BJP just before the Assembly polls, as they could provide crucial inputs to win the targeted 20 out of the 28 Lok Sabha seats in Karnataka.

PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi said here on Monday that the state leaders will be asked to propose candidates for the parliamentary elections. The change in working presidents of the Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee and appointment of a full-time secretary will also be discussed, he added.

"Fielding ministers for the Lok Sabha elections has not been discussed in the party forum yet. If the high command decides we will have to contest as I did during the Belagavi Lok Sabha bypoll," he said.

He, however, ruled out the high command discussing the discontent among certain MLAs, especially Aland legislator BR Patil, against ministers. "He might be hurt, but we will set things right. Politics is not stagnant water and convincing the disgruntled is a routine process," he added.

Labour Minister Santosh Lad, who was in Hubballi, too said the high command may not discuss the discontent among MLAs. Instead, the discussion will be on the party's organisation, policy and parliamentary elections, he added.

Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara in Tumakuru predicted that the BJP-led NDA may not return to power for the third time as the Narendra Modi government is facing anti-incumbency.

"Manmohan Singh as prime minister had completed ten years when the people expected the change (in 2014). Similarly, Modi has reached ten years and there will be a change," he added.

The ministers may be given the task of ensuring the party's victory in Lok Sabha seats in the districts they are in charge of. The meeting may also discuss mobilisation of funds for the polls, sources said.

Delhi visit just to meet top brass, says minister

ENS @ Vijayapura

ADMITTING that some ministers and prominent Congress leaders are going to Delhi to meet the party high command, Textile Minister Shivanand Patil, however, claimed that the visit is not connected to the reported dissatisfaction that certain MLAs, including Aland MLA BR Patil, had expressed against some ministers.

Shivanand Patil

Addressing the media on Monday, he said leaders from the state were unable to meet senior leader Rahul Gandhi in the past owing to various reasons. "We have not met the party high command after the formation of the cabinet. We also could not meet Rahul Gandhi when during his recent Bangaluru visit because of his tight schedule. The scheduled meeting with his was called off due to demise of former Kerala CM Oomen Chandy. Now, we plan to visit Delhi and meet our top leaders," he added.

Patil said the central leadership has invited some senior leaders of the party. He claimed that the dissatisfaction of BR Patil and leaders going to Delhi was just a coincidence, admitting that it was common for elected legislators to exert pressure on the government for the development of their constituencies.

Even the MLA seeking transfers of particular officials after the formation of a new government is common. "However, as per the norms, the ministers have the authority to get only 6 per cent transfers. Since some of the MLAs are unhappy with it, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, in the CLP meeting, assured that these issues would be addressed. We have held some internal discussions and that no differences emerged among the MLAs," he asserted. On the allegations of the JDS and BJP trying to collude and topple the Congress government, the minister said it is a far-fetch with the Congress having a clear majority. "Even JDS supremo HD Deve Gowda has declared that his party is not aligning with the BJP. The speculation is baseless," he claimed.

SCSP/TSP Action Plan for ₹34,293.69 crore approved

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE action plan for Rs 34,293.69 crore for Scheduled Caste Sub Plan (SCSP) and the Tribal Sub Plan (TSP) for 2023-24 was approved on Monday.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, who chaired a meeting of the council for Scheduled Castes/ Scheduled Tribes Development, warned officials of stern action if they failed to utilise the SCSP/ TSP grants properly. The CM directed departments to evaluate the effectiveness of the utilisation of the grants and submit a report with the impact on beneficiaries.

Siddaramaiah said during his previous tenure as CM, they had enacted the Karnataka Scheduled Castes Sub-Allocation and Tribal Sub-Allocation Act, 2013, and Rules, 2017, for the comprehensive development of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes. According to that, 24.10 per cent of the funds allocated for development projects will be made available under the SCSP/TSP subplan. This was done to ensure that the grants reach those communities directly.

In 2023-24, under the the SCSP/TSP, the Women and Child Development Department has been allocated Rs 5,790.67 crore, Energy Department Rs 5,400.98 crore, Revenue Department Rs 4,041.78 crore, and Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Department Rs 2,349.85 crore.

In the meeting, departments have been directed to utilise the grants in the next two months as per the action plan. A note issued by the Chief Minister's Office stated that the members suggested to the government to implement the Renuka Chidambaram Committee report for better management of the social welfare department hostels. It was directed to give 60 per cent of the seats in residential schools to local students and 40 per cent seats to others. The officials were also directed to provide free hostel facilities to all SC/ST students and ensure that they do not drop out of school.

Social Welfare Department Minister HC Mahadevappa said the SCSP/TSP action plan has increased by Rs 4,030 crore this year, compared to last year.

No credible Lok Sabha candidates for Congress?

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

AS party leaders sit in a huddle in New Delhi on August 2 to deliberate on plans and strategies for the 2024 Lok Sabha elections to win 20 of the 28 seats from the state, the big question is who will be the party candidates who can deliver these seats to Congress.

The party candidates who contested last time and lost, like KH Muniyappa (Kolar), Madhu Bangarappa (Shivamogga), Eshwar Khandre (Bidar) and Krishna Byre Gowda (Bengaluru North) are all MLAs and ministers.

A senior party leader said, "The main priority is the seats where we can field anyone and win. Our priority is to win."

KPCC working president Saleem Ahmed said, "We are confident of doing well and we will field winning candidates. We have good candidates."

Sources said there is a big risk in fielding ministers as they would prefer to lose and continue as ministers than win the Lok Sabha election.

Saleem Ahmed

The problem is that the party has lost several Lok Sabha elections in many constituencies. It lost the last six polls in Uttar Kannada and seven In Dakshina Kannada. In Belagavi, Dharwad, Bengaluru South and Davangere, it has lost multiple times back to back. Even in Bengaluru Central, Bengaluru North and Udupi-Chikkamagaluru, the party has lost three back-to-back polls.

Political analyst BS Murthy said, "For the 2024 elections, Congress may bring in at least 12-15 fresh faces." The reason is there is a dearth of seasoned candidates.

It may be good news for Congress that BJP is yet to appoint its opposition leaders in the Assembly and Council, and party state president, but how long will this good fortune continue is the question.

BJP has its own woes. BS Murthy said, "BJP has a big baggage of candidates who are facing anti-incumbency across all regions. There is talk that a big chunk of seniors is likely to be denied tickets and will be replaced with younger former ministers. While it could be a straight fight between Congress and BJP in many seats, the Grand Old Party has to prepare for a three-way fight in Mandya and Hassan, where JDS is strong. In Chikkaballapur, Kolar, Mysuru, Tumakuru and Bengaluru Rural, JDS may not win, but can make a difference."

Need for credible fight

Sources said, "If there is a JDS understanding with BJP, Congress needs to put up a credible fight."

What is also of concern is that the demand for the seats that the party saw for Assembly elections is not being witnessed for the Lok Sabha polls.

State urges Centre to increase MSP for jowar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FOOD and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa urged the Centre to increase the MSP of Jowar-Maldandi according to the market rates.

In a letter to Union Minister of Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution Piyush Goyal, Muniyappa stated that since 2014, the prices of fertilisers such as D.A.P. & complexes have increased three-folds. The price of D.A.P. has been increased from Rs 460 to Rs 1350 per bag and the price of complexes from Rs 400 to Rs 1,470. Therefore, the MSP for ragi is to be Rs 5,000 and for jowar Rs 4,500, respectively, he stated.

The minister stated that the Centre communicated the MSP rates of various agriculture products, including the rates of jowar hybrid at Rs 3,180 per quintal & Jowar-Maldandi at Rs 3,225 per quintal.

"In the MSP rates communicated for KMS 2023-24, the MSP rate of ragi is positioned at Rs 3,846 per quintal, but the MSP of Jowar-Maldandi is only at Rs 3,225 per quintal (only 83.8 per cent of ragi MSP), with a difference of over Rs 620 per quintal. Further, the market consistence price of Jowar-Maldandi is approximately Rs 4,000 per quintal in the state," he said.

The minister appealed to the Centre to review the rate to do justice to the farmers cultivating Jowar-Maldandi grain.

He said the state needs a formal assurance on the quantity of purchase of ragi and jowar by the Centre through FCI under the Central pool. He urged the Centre to issue necessary instructions to the concerned officials to extend cooperation to the state in increasing the procurement of ragi and jowar stocks, for supply under the Central pool.

'Pride of K'taka taking a hit'

THE official said the last supply of 2050 metric tonnes of ghee was in 2021. Though KMF had informed TTD that it could meet its demand for ghee, the price factor seems to be a matter of concern for the temple trust. KMF is ready for negotiations if TTD contacts it, he said.

However, former minister and BJP leader CT Ravi on Monday said that he is not happy with the KMF's statement. It contradicted the statement of the KMF chairman issued on Sunday.

Ravi said, "On Sunday, the KMF chairman stated that the federation cannot supply ghee because of the increasing production cost. But on Monday, KMF officials issued a contradicting statement that the federation stopped supplying ghee to TTD in 2021. As per the information I received, KMF supplied ghee to TTD till June 2023. Why is KMF lying now?" Ravi said supplying ghee to TTD for its laddus is a matter of pride for Karnataka. The state government should find ways to ensure that supply of ghee to TTD is not affected.

"The pride of Karnataka is taking a hit because of the Congress government's decision to hike the price of milk and the inability of KMF to convince such a big customer to continue ghee procurement from it," he said.

MLAs did not apologise over letter: Parameshwara

Nobody should apologise and none asked them to apologise. They had said their intention was to insist on a CLP meeting, which is every legislator's right. More interpretation in this regard is not required

Dr G Parameshwara, Home Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Tumakuru

HOME Minister Dr G Parameshwara on Monday retracted from his previous statement that some MLAs had tendered an apology at the Congress Legislature Party (CLP) meeting.

"The MLAs had apologised to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and KPCC president D K Shivakumar for writing a letter insisting on a CLP meeting," he had stated a couple of days ago. Following this, Aland MLA B R Patil, who had written a letter to the CM for the CLP meeting, had clarified that he had not apologised.

"Nobody should apologise and none asked them to apologise. They had said their intention was to insist on a CLP meeting, which is every legislator's right. More interpretation in this regard is not required," Parameshwara maintained.

With regard to the recruitment of PSIs, Parameshwara clarified that unless the PSI scam of filling 545 posts is resolved, fresh recruitment cannot be done. "Investigation into the scam is one part and recruitment is another, as the department has proposed to recruit 400 more PSIs. Unless we resolve the PSI scam, we cannot go with the recruitment as those who had applied earlier to be recruited will lose their seniority," he remarked.

He hoped that following the state HC's directions, the issue will be resolved soon.

Interacting with media persons in Mangaluru, he said, "The incident of a person entering Vidhana Soudha during the budget session and occupying the seat of an MLA has opened our eyes about a strong security system. We have decided to come up with the best security system inside the House and a high-level meeting was held with the officials concerned. Experts and the police are holding discussions about strengthening the security on the premises."

He said, "We have plans to come up with a mobile application that will allow people to access the proceedings and give their suggestions."

When his opinion was sought on Manipur and Udupi incidents, he said, "We have a responsibility to create a peaceful atmosphere. We should not become problem creators. We need to try to resolve it peacefully."

On criticism that he was biased while suspending a few opposition MLAs, he said that as a Speaker he had to take some tough decisions against elected representatives when they acted against the Constitution.

"There was no biased action and I have complete support to protect the dignity of the MLAs," he said.

Door turns into blackboard at this govt school

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Ballari

SCHOOL doors have turned into blackboards at this government primary and higher primary school at Siravar village in Ballari district. Though a new building has been constructed, the education department has not given permission to use all the rooms as classes as a scuffle has broken out between the administration and villagers.

The school has 793 students and the old building does not have enough classrooms to accommodate all of them. The teachers are now holding classes outside the rooms with some using doors as blackboards.

One of the teachers said that the Kalyana Karnataka Regional Development Board constructed an 18-room school building recently. While 10 rooms have been handed over, no permission has been given to use the other rooms.

A teacher at the Siravar government school uses a door as a makeshift blackboard to conduct class for students | EXPRESS

"Usually teachers carry blackboards. Recently, one of the teachers used the door as a blackboard and taught a mathematics chapter to Class 4 students. We have requested the official to give permission to use the remaining classrooms. Also, doors and windows have to be fixed in some rooms. Once that is done, the rooms will be handed over to us," the teacher added.

Ramesh B, a villager, said it's a shame to see the condition of the government school. "It's not the teacher's fault that she used the door as the blackboard. At least, she tried to teach the students, instead of wasting time. The school lacks basic amenities and has an unhygienic toilet, while there are drinking water issues too. After the recent rain, the school premises had turned into a pond. But the teachers continue teaching the children. Hope the district administration will resolve the issue," he added.

Jeweller fakes robbery to claim ₹4cr insurance, held

ENS @ Bengaluru

A robbery of gold ornaments worth Rs 2.31 crore in Cottonpet has taken an interesting turn with the police arresting the complainant.

The accused had insured the gold ornaments and wanted to claim the insurance amount by staging the robbery. He had trained his two relatives, both juveniles, to be part of the crime. In the complaint, he had claimed that unidentified bike-borne thieves had attacked his relatives at the dead end of the Mysuru Road flyover and escaped with the ornaments. The police checked the CCTV footage from nearby areas, but could not find any evidence of robbery. Further investigation revealed that the complainant had plotted the fake robbery.

The accused Raj Jain (24), owner of Kesar Jewellers on NT Pet Main Road, was arrested, while the two juveniles were sent to the state home. Jain filed the complaint with the Cottonpet police at 10.10 pm on July 12, claiming that the robbery took place between 7.30 pm and 7.50 pm.

"Raj Jain had trained the two juveniles for nearly 20 days. The trio had done a recce on a few roads to find out if there were any CCTVs. Finally they decided to fake the robbery on the flyover as there were no CCTVs. The jeweller went to the flyover, shifted the bag containing the gold ornaments from the juveniles' vehicle to his. He went on the same vehicle to file the complaint. The police stumbled upon a WhatsApp call made at the time of the 'robbery', leading to the arrests," said an officer.

CURB EXAM LEAKS, DON'T PLAY WITH THE FUTURES OF YOUTH

When the police quietly probed what it suspected to be a question paper leak for a government recruitment examination in Odisha's Balasore district, it dug out a racket whose footprints of crime were scattered across at least three states. In the past, papers for various recruitment tests were successfully stolen and circulated in Delhi, Bihar and Madhya Pradesh. The Delhi incident involved the leak of an examination paper for recruitment into the Central Police Organisation. There is a strong suspicion that the gang, with members drawn from four different states, may have been behind similar acts in West Bengal too. Starting out as a coaching centre owner in Patna, the ringmaster of the racket hopped government jobs even as he continued to compromise recruitment tests across the country. While the Balasore police's praiseworthy investigation has stopped the serial offender in his tracks, the incident also points to a more disturbing trend—question paper leaks have now turned into a pan-India organised crime.

The writing has been on the wall for quite some time. Last year, Gujarat's Anti-Terrorism Squad (ATS) investigated a similar leak and found that people from various states were involved in the crime. The revelations in the Odisha case have exposed the gaping loopholes in the system. These organised rackets comprise players from across the education sector: people involved in formulating question papers, coaching centres, consultants and printing presses.

The monster of question paper leaks assumed such menacing proportions that Haryana, Rajasthan and Gujarat put in place stringent laws to tackle it. The alarming frequency of leaks in the last two states turned it into an election issue. The Ashok Gehlot government was forced to bring an amendment to raise the punishment under its public examination law. In a country where unemployment remains a constant worry, leaking systems can leave the vast young population of job aspirants disillusioned due to frequent exam cancellations. It also adds to the delay in recruitment and hurts the efficiency of administrative agencies, which are already running low on human resources. While states have and can come up with laws to curb the problem, the menace necessitates the existence of a common mechanism and bigger debates at the national level. The Union government must take the lead to find a solution, for, such leaks wreak havoc on the careers and lives of millions across the country.

WC SCHEDULE MESS REFLECTS POORLY ON BCCI

Just about two months left for the ODI Cricket World Cup in India, and many things are still uncertain, including the schedule and tickets—the most integral parts of the tournament. To begin with, announcing the schedule took some time for reasons best known to the Indian cricket board (BCCI). Eventually, it announced the itinerary on June 27 after a long delay. Then, when preparations were underway, the BCCI said there was ambiguity over three to four matches. The reason, at least for the most sought-after match of the tournament—India versus Pakistan at the Narendra Modi Stadium in Ahmedabad—was that it would coincide with the first day of Navaratri. What seems baffling is that the BCCI failed to realise that Navaratri would begin on October 15 until after the schedule was announced. Since it's an important festival in Gujarat, hosting the match might not be easy due to security reasons.

BCCI secretary Jay Shah met host state associations on July 27 and said that the dates will likely change, but not the venues. He also said three nations were uncomfortable with certain dates, so the matter needed addressing. From the fans' perspective, this cannot get more frustrating. Multiple reports said fans had started booking hospital beds in Ahmedabad because hotel room prices were hitting the roof. Additionally, the ticket sales for none of the matches are open, and the selling dates still need to be finalised. The delay will further dent BCCI's image because watching games in India is already not a pleasant experience, given the long queues for acquiring physical tickets.

What could lead to more delay in deciding the schedule is the visit of a security team from Pakistan. Its Cricket Board has said their government's security team will visit the venues; the cricket team will only travel after the security team's green signal. They are yet to send the team, and if they object to certain venues or dates, the schedule might be tinkered with again. Whatever the reason is for the delay in finalising the schedule (of certain matches), the BCCI is under intense scrutiny. It reflects poorly on the administrative acumen. Even the International Cricket Council (ICC), under whose aegis the World Cup is being held, must be held responsible for not addressing issues early. In the end, the game will suffer.

QUICK TAKE

TRIBUTE TO TANKAI

The Navy and the Ministry of Culture plan to jointly revive Tankai, a 2000-year-old Indian shipbuilding technique, to preserve Indian maritime traditions. Stitchboats built by sewing hull boards with cords or fibres plied the ancient sea trade routes. Along with Mediterranean triremes and Chinese junks, they were the three prevalent shipbuilding styles of those times. Tankai remained popular till the 15th century when the Portuguese arrived, bringing modern European methods. The Tankai revival can promote cultural connections in the Indian Ocean region. The government can also introduce Tankai tourism through adventure regattas in the Indian seas and boat rides in the backwaters.

AI in branding is at the stage of weaponisation today. Every marketing company that wants to be the best at branding is already rejigging its marketing team

'GUIDED MARKETING' WHERE BRANDS MAY CHOOSE CUSTOMERS

HARISH BIJOOR

Brand Guru and Founder, Harish Bijoor Consults Inc

SOUMYADIP SINHA

We live in a brand-cluttered world. A world where everything and everybody is a brand today. My definition of a brand is simple. Uncomplicated. No jargon. "The brand is a thought. A simple thought that lives in a person's head." Brands are, however, not simple. They are complex. Complicated even. Brand complexity arises from the fact that this simple thought that lives in one person's head is different in every other head. As many heads, those many thoughts of the same brand. And this complexity is what a brand manager deals with every single living moment.

The better brands are more of a single cohesive thought in people's minds, and the lesser brands are those that are widely disparate thoughts, different in literally every head they live in. And just to clarify, brands are really not about those who buy them at all. Brands are, really, just owners of the mind. Brands occupy a very vital portion of the mind. And the fight is for this valuable piece of mind. A forever fight.

The year 2023, in many ways, has been the year of AI. The biggest newsmaker of the year is ChatGPT, and the 4 lakh-odd applications it has spawned (either as a subset of its offerings or as competitive responses) point to the fact that AI is everywhere in our midst today. In a world of business laden with data—none of which were ever optimally used—machine-learning mechanics and AI offer the ability to make use of this large ocean of data to market just about anything. Let's remember the world is all of 8 billion-plus people today, and there is a demand for just about anything that can be marketed intelligently and intuitively.

What's exciting me in 2023 then? A piece of work I have been researching and piloting for the past two years: Can brands guide consumer buys? The emergence of ChatGPT has given brands and their guiding process much-needed momentum in 2023. The future emergence of Quantum Computing is definitely going to give it that much-needed leg-up, but what we see today is no less exciting. We are just about entering an era in marketing where data-driven decision-making with zero bias is going to be a reality. The end goal of automation and AI is reaching a stage of fruition in marketing and branding terms already. Let me share some early excitement, optimism and some fears as well that I will plant in our minds for a debate.

I will call this science of subliminally making the consumer buy branded stuff as "guided marketing". The marketer today has savvy tools in hand. AI is this good friend of the marketer. And my creative friends in advertising are not going to like it all that much. Remember, advertising agencies have typically and fiercely protected the power of the "creative process" to make brands happen, run and fly. The industry is filled with examples of great minds putting together great works that have created brands literally out of a simple chewing gum, a chocolate or cement for that matter.

The advertising and marketing industry has always been at loggerheads when it comes to the debate of data and market research evidence versus the creative process at play. I have been a party to many a fight on this count for sure. And now, in comes AI-led branding. This, in fact, is "guided marketing" at its best. Or worst.

Today, data science, machine learning and mind science (consumer memory science included) join to create a brand algorithm which has the ability to actually create processes, pathways and a formula for sure-fire success of the brand. This brand algorithm, just about falling into place at the back-end of many a serious marketing organisation, is going to change the very nature of brand management and is most certainly going to shake up many a job in the marketing organisation. AI-guided marketing simply says that consumers do not decide anything. The marketer does for him, her or them—subliminally—using all the data in hand which has suddenly become very powerful.

The mind of a consumer is a dustbin of brands really. Brands do not take permission to enter consumers' minds. They never have, even in the past. Brands are just thrown into this dustbin and nurtured in these minds by clever marketers. The brand manager to that extent is a gardener who throws in the seed of the brand into the consumer's mind, and then takes care of how she nurtures it into purchases. Unflatteringly so, you are a function of the brands you use and want to use in the future. Brands define you. You don't define brands. Ouch!

My current work in this space is getting me to say something nasty now. Dear consumer, you don't decide on what to buy. The marketer does. Subliminally. So subliminally that you don't even know. And you don't care really. Not yet.

AI in branding is at the stage of weaponisation today. Tomorrow is already here. Every marketing company that wants to be the best at branding is already rejigging its marketing team. Marketing is just too important to be left to marketing people alone. The new teams I have put together for hitherto old-world companies incorporate this ethos. The new brand manager is not a brand manager at all. It is a brand management team. A team that comprises the data scientist of the company, the AI evangelist, a consumer psychologist and a core traditional creative person who is able to build storylines and storyboards with themes to test. Oops. There is a brand manager (as we knew her in the old days) on the team as well. I forgot to add.

The back-end work done by this 'BrandTeam' (as I call it) actually leads to the creation of a strand of thought that digs deep into consumer psychology, memory science, behavioural psychology and perception science. This strand of thought then gets married to the corpus of consumer data that is already available and now being harvested minutely and profitably (at last). And at the end of it all, there is a unique brand algorithm in place. An algorithm that will be dictated to the creative agency to put together communication in the flow that is cogently dictated and within the ambit of the science being spoken. Ouch again. Not a happy thought for the creative person who has forever fought even the smallest bit of data thrown in by the client at the briefing sessions on the brand.

Life ahead is different. Brands that use AI at the back-end might just be forced to add a statutory warning on their products and services in the future. A label that simply says: "STATUTORY WARNING: We make you buy. We decide what you buy"!

OPPEN SEASON ON THE GITA IN THE BEDROOM

C P SURENDRAN

Poet, novelist, and screenplay writer. His latest novel is One Love and the Many Lives of Osip B

A whale or a lion or an earthworm is less inclined to go off in their heads than a human. No animal other than man suffers from congenital or acquired mental disorders such as depression or multiple personalities. We may hazard an explanation for this in the extremely complex and fragile wiring of our brains. Naturally, our default mode is insanity.

There is no reason why J Robert Oppenheimer, one of the most intellectually gifted, successful, and born-rich men of the 20th century, would suffer from bouts of depression till he died—of throat cancer in 1967.

Christopher Nolan's eponymous movie, much debated, does everything right except bring alive the man's torment, either before or after the bomb that Oppenheimer fathered and President Truman dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki—killing, according to one estimate, 2,20,000 people, most of them civilians.

Truman may not have been clinically mad, but he and his country had been fighting a war that cannot be said to be the finest expression of human reason. It must rub off in ways we are not equipped to tell because we are inside the matrix.

If those melted by the bomb, even one of them, were brought back to life by Nolan and confronted Cillian Murphy's Oppenheimer, Oppenheimer's remorse and guilt would have had an emotional punch the movie now lacks. Because when the dead come back, they always do so with more questions than the living can ever hope to answer.

In his essay on Gunter Grass, with special reference to the post-World War II novel, Crabwalk, J M Coetzee says: 'Grass presents his apology for not having written and, sadly, for no longer having it in his power to write the great German novel in which the multitude of Germans (italics mine) who perished in the death throes of the Third Reich are brought back to life so that they can be buried and mourned fittingly … and a new page in history can at last be turned.'

Because of Oppenheimer's connections at the time with the Communist Party of the US, he went through a sustained period of trauma, facing allegations of sedition and leaking sensitive information to the Soviet Union. Only as late as last December was he wholly rehabilitated, and the process by which his security clearance was cancelled (by the US Atomic Energy Commission in 1954) was declared 'flawed'.

That a man who mastered nuclear forces and invented the atomic bomb for his country could be seen as an enemy explains how one's fate is at the mercy of the careers of other men/women. If Hitler had remained a corporal as he was in World War I, content with the Iron Crosses he earned for his bravery and his soldier's pension, and did not cherish a career in politics ending in his becoming the Fuhrer, millions might have had their lives spared. The role of an individual's career in the destiny of civilisation yet awaits an author.

That a man who mastered nuclear forces and invented the atomic bomb for his country could be seen as an enemy explains how one's fate is at the mercy of the careers of other men/women

Indeed, had Oppenheimer's ambition and drive for power not been so aggressive, he would not have accepted the post of the director at Los Alamos Laboratory, which birthed the bomb.

In the movie, one of Oppenheimer's lovers (Jean Tatlock, a communist party member, played with disturbing neurotic indeterminacy by Florence Pugh), in the course of a bedroom scene, picks out the Bhagavad Gita from the shelf, opens it conveniently at chapter 11, and makes Oppenheimer read the lines: 'I am become Death, the destroyer of worlds.'

The words are from Bheeshma Parva, in which Arjuna suffers from the 'atomic' equivalent of a nervous breakdown and would rather not take up arms against his elders and cousins; in short, he would rather not wage war. What good can come off such epic slaughter? But in the movie, the way it is played out, Oppenheimer never really has any great misgivings on his mission. They mildly assail him only after the bomb has been dropped.

The words come from one of the most egotistic chapters in all literature. Krishna annihilates the idea of Free Will for humanity. He is everything. Everything has been done. By Him. In Him, death happens. So does life. And all of it has happened once. All of it will happen again. There is no human agency. Arjuna just must carry out his dharma. In the great lines following, which Oppenheimer must have understood with keener insight than an average Indian, Krishna virtually licenses the dropping, thousands of years later, of the bomb: I have already killed Dronacharya, Bheeshma, Jayadratha, Karna, and other brave warriors. Therefore, worry not; slay them without a second thought. Do your duty, Arjuna.

Except for the appeal of Freudian association (Eros, love, and Thanatos, death, are virtually bedmates), it is not clear why coitus is interrupted for a short course on the Gita in the movie. Perhaps it augurs the destruction of Tatlot herself, who later commits suicide as Oppenheimer is reluctant to continue with the affair.

Despite the massive implication that we can all do great harm in the name of God, that if we are detached enough—having surrendered to the divine will—we are free to detonate a bomb, the nature of Oppenheimer's career is markedly Faustian. He was ready to trade in death and make good in life. The US exploited Oppenheimer as much as Oppenheimer exploited the US. The amorality of either party does not find sufficient dramatic expression in Nolan.

Despite a boycott call by the right-wing Save Culture, Save India Foundation trending on social media, the movie has collected close to ₹100 crore at the Box Office. I suppose we have arrived at a stage in India where particle physics has become a matinee attraction. And at the same time, feel the need to save the Gita from Hollywood bedrooms. As I said, insane.

Manipur violence

Ref: Situation going out of hand, warn Opposition MPs after meeting guv (July 31). The mindset of the Opposition continues to be the same even after what they have seen and heard in Manipur. The Centre is rehabilitating the displaced and bringing to book the radical and anti-national elements operating in the state.

The old scriptures have drawn a Laxman Rekha for Indian women and insisted on their subservience to men, making women slaves in society. Moral gallantry

Renuka Narayanan's Faithline captures the bond between husbands and wives excellently. Rishi Markandeya says to Kraustuki that a husband has many duties, but chiefly, moral gallantry. This is beautifully explained by a priest to Uttama. He says a husband's duty is to protect his wife not only from the world and his own family, but from himself too. What an excellent view!

Aluva crime

It is a fact that Kerala can ill-afford to do away with migrant labour. But the brutal murder of a five-year-old girl is another sordid addition to the murders, burglaries, etc., involving migrants. They have assumed they can get away with anything here. This impression must be corrected.

Bhima Koregaon

That the SC granted bail to the Bhima Koregaon accused is a significant development. It is a rap on the knuckles of NIA, which slapped UAPA charges on them based on inadequate evidence. Wrong application of this Act can ruin innocent lives. Greater care is needed not only in national security but also citizen's lives and the right to freedom.

'I.N.D.I.A coalition will grow stronger as we move ahead'

BJP is so unnerved that it is comparing the coalition's name to terror outfits and the symbol of slavery – East India Company, says Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge

IN an exclusive interview to this newspaper, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge tells Bansi Kalappa and Ramu Patil that I.N.D.I.A is determined to address real issues concerning people such as unemployment, income inequality and inflation and provide an alternative agenda for governance based on inclusiveness and social justice.

As you gather UPA alliance partners, would it be wrong to say that the difficulties of pulling along the 26 parties without being in power in the centre are more than, let's say, in the past, like in 2004 and 2009?
UPA was formed after Congress Party emerged as the single largest party in the 2004 Lok Sabha election, and all those parties who believed in the development model that the Congress championed came together. At one point, the coalition's cumulative strength grew to 20. This time around, the idea to come together was felt by everyone because of the threat that the vindictive and divisive politics of BJP and RSS pose to Indian democracy, our Constitution and our institutions. We have come together to raise the real issues that impact our people — from unemployment, income inequality to inflation. We are determined to provide an alternative agenda for governance based on inclusiveness and social justice. I.N.D.I.A is a coalition which will grow stronger as we move ahead. Even the name I.N.D.I.A emerged from our common ideology and belief in our Constitution and our collective love for our nation, I.N.D.I.A. It's a name that is appreciated and loved by all.

Can you in the alliance get the name I.N.D.I.A? What are the challenges of getting the name? Would it help the opposition reach the last voter with the name?
I.N.D.I.A expands into Indian National Developmental Inclusive Alliance. Each word has a meaning, and people relate to what we stand for. The BJP and the Prime Minister are so unnerved that in their bid to oppose us, they are comparing INDIA to terror organisations like Indian Mujahideen or the symbol of slavery — East India Company. It's unimaginable to speak about I.N.D.I.A with such contempt.

Indians think of our motherland, sacrifices, collective identity, and pride when they hear I.N.D.I.A. No one associates India with anything negative. It's shocking that in its bid to defame us, the BJP is defaming our country.

Verbatim

The fact is the government has no vision, is bereft of ideas, and has started regressing on all parameters except its continuous propagation of a divisive and toxic agenda. Congress is a party which stands on the bedrock of 150 years of our glorious history, which resonates with the history of India. Our cadres are present from Kashmir to Kanyakumari and from Gujarat to Arunachal Pradesh. We are the only party that reaches the last mile - the last voter. Opposition parties are confident they will offer a cohesive, positive agenda to people as an alternative to the hateful and divisive politics of the BJP. Seven Chief Ministers are already part of our alliance. So, we have actually already covered a lot of ground.

The five state polls are around the corner. Will you be able to win in MP, Rajasthan, Telangana, Chhattisgarh and Mizoram, and will the outcome impact the LS polls?
After our huge victory in Karnataka, we are very confident of doing well in the coming state elections. Our organisation is also robust in these states. We have had election preparedness meetings with each one of them. We got very encouraging feedback about the electoral prospects. Frankly, Assembly results impact General elections; they help build up momentum in favour of the winning party and motivate the party workers. Indian voters are mature and understand the real issues, and we are confident that the voters will choose INDIA over BJP.

Will seat sharing be an issue in a mutually competing political space? You have AAP and the Left parties with you and other competing parties. Are these real contradictions you could do without? For example, states like WB and Kerala, where the rivals are among the partners of the I.N.D.I.A alliance.
Seat sharing becomes an issue when there is a tussle for power, not when partners have come selflessly to keep Indian democracy alive and champion the cause of the people.

After Patna and Bengaluru, we are meeting in Mumbai next. We have already announced the formation of an 11-member committee with a secretariat in Delhi. You will get to know the details in due course.

Parties like NCP and Shiv Sena have been recently truncated; if BJP tries to weaken the opposition further, what is your counter to such efforts if it tries to poach some more?
People of India are seeing through the BJP's lust for power and its tactics. This has seriously wounded the great Indian democracy, which had become a model over the last seven decades for others worldwide. Unfortunately, in its naked pursuit for power, the government misused investigative agencies against the opposition and weaponised them to threaten its political opponents.

We know that the people are watching everything and will give a befitting reply to the BJP's dirty tricks. We also hope and desire that the judiciary and the Speakers of Legislative Assemblies of various states will rise to the occasion and act as bulwarks to safeguard the anti-defection measures provided in the Constitution. People also expect the same.

Is it feasible for opposition parties to fight Lok Sabha polls without a PM face when faced with a formidable opponent like PM Modi?
Wasn't the same argument given before the 2004 Lok Sabha election? People vote for their issues and not on the face of leaders. Faces which can't provide jobs or increase incomes, faces which can't provide relief from inflation, are rejected. We saw this recently in Karnataka. Alliances that have come together for the cause of people win the voters' trust. History is replete with examples where alliances have defeated the so-called powerful leaders.

There is no tussle for power amongst the INDIA allies. For us the need to provide relief to our people and restore their faith in Indian democracy and our institutions is more important.

BJP is already in poll mode. They tried to make UCC and other programs to strengthen their voter support. How will you counter it?
I want to remind you that the Law Commission called Uniform Civil Code "neither necessary nor desirable" in 2018. Interestingly, the Prime Minister returned from a foreign trip, and the first thing he took up was UCC. So whenever the government starts losing ground, they dig out issues of polarisation. But this tactic doesn't work anymore. We are not against reforms, but the government's intent should be honest. It was, after all, the Congress party which put the requirement for a Uniform Civil Code in the Constitution under the Directive Principles of State Policy. We will first see the draft the Govt presents and then respond. But these trial balloons are not the issues for which people elect their governments. The issues which have affected people are price rise, unemployment and social injustices. The alarmingly high level of income and economic inequalities, and crony capitalism have deprived common people of gainful opportunities and access to resources.

> Indians think of our motherland, of sacrifices, of collective identity, of pride when they hear INDIA. No one associates India with anything negative. It's shocking that the BJP in its bid to defame us is actually defaming our country
> Mallikarjun Kharge

What will be the role of Congress in I.N.D.I.A? Will they play the lead role or be a simple partner in collective leadership?
Congress is the largest party in this alliance. Rahul ji and I initially met prominent leaders for the formation of this alliance. The first meeting was held in Patna and then in Bengaluru. So all parties are equal and crucial partners in the I.N.D.I.A coalition; every party is an equal stakeholder because each has a significant role to play. This alliance is increasingly growing in strength, and you will see more additions in future. The Congress will play the role it has always played to ensure social justice and to preserve our democracy.

If the I.N.D.I.A alliance wins the election and forms the government, will a Congressman be the PM face, or will the party that wins the most seats decide?
We have allied to defeat the divisive forces that have caused irreparable damage to our social fabric and have ruined India's economic growth. We are witness to the tragedy that's unfolding in Manipur. The Prime Minister and his government in Delhi and Manipur have been mute spectators, to say the least. Rahul ji had visited Manipur, where he visited relief camps and met all communities. Now 21 MPs from 16 parties have returned after a two-day visit. We are still unsure if they will be allowed to discuss and debate in parliament the ground situation prevailing in camps and violence-affected areas of Manipur. So our aim is not myopic - we want to restore the rule of law and processes of democracy in this country. We are confident that the 2024 Lok Sabha election will be a watershed moment in our history, and when the I.N.D.I.A alliance wins, then a decision for the PM's post shall be taken unanimously and with consensus by all stakeholders.

Will you have programmes like in Karnataka made available nationally?
Whenever people vote us to power, we use our time-tested inclusive governance model based on social welfare, development, social justice and progressive thoughts. Our electoral promises or manifesto carry our solemn resolve and our guarantees that carry our vision. The people of state of Karnataka put their faith in the Congress party, and you would have noted that we have also started delivering.

For the 2024 general election, we will have a strategy based on voters' aspirations, needs and priorities. We will listen to the voices from the ground to decide our programmes.

Your best performance in UP was in 2009 when INC could win 21 seats. What is your strategy to win UP where the odds are stacked against you?
I know we need to win people's trust back in Uttar Pradesh. Priyanka Gandhi has put a lot of effort into rebuilding the party. I am hopeful that we will have a forward-looking strategy based on feedback from our leaders and workers to chalk out a definite strategy which will ensure winning a good number of seats.

Modi chairs 1st cluster meet of NDA MPs to firm up joint plan for '24

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

"ELECTIONS are fought and won the performances of the government and the NDA-led Central government has set a record in performances," said Prime Minister Narendra Modi, chairing the first meetings of MPs of the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) in New Delhi on Monday.

The NDA MPs, in attendance, resolved to use coordinated effort and collective strategy to take on the Opposition in the Lok Sabha elections next year.

The back-to-back meetings on Monday were the first such cluster meetings being chaired by PM Modi with groups of NDA legislators – between July 31 and August 10.

At the first meeting of NDA MPs, 42 MPs from West UP, Braj region, Kanpur region and Bundhelkahnd were in attendance, with Home Minister Amit Shah and Defence Minister Rajnath Singh present. At the second meeting, 41 MPs from Odisha, Jharkhand and West Bengal were in attendance, with the presence of BJP national chief JP Nadda and Union Minister Nitin Gadkari.

The PM shared success tips to not only ensure a stronger chance of winnability but also to help the MPs develop a deeper bond with the electorate.

The MPs also shared their strategies before PM Modi and the other leaders present.

One of the MPs, (who did not wish to be quoted) said that the meeting with the PM was basically to draw a common strategy to tackle the mounting political attack of the Opposition, united under the new political acronym I.N.D.I.A.

"The PM has raised the need to expose those parties which have come together under the INDIA alliance. Corruption charges of each of the Opposition parties must be amplified through various platforms of communication with the electorate. Their involvement in scams worth over ₹20 lakh crore must be taken to the common man," sources said, quoting a detail from the meeting.

Sources also said that the NDA allies had decided to address the Opposition as 'UPA-III', and not the INDIA.

"Coining such an acronym for political purposes will not succeed in misleading the people in the polls," the sources said, adding that the PM also urged the NDA MPs to power over the Opposition through development.

The BJP, which is the biggest ally of NDA, has divided the entire NDA comprising of 38 parties into 11 clusters – each cluster having 30-35 MPS of both the Houses.

Ignoring no-trust motion insult to House: Adhir

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR & PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE pandemonium continued in Lok Sabha on Monday as the Opposition members and treasury Benches locked horns over the Manipur issue. The Opposition members have been demanding a statement from PM Narendra Modi in the House on the Manipur issue and a discussion under Rule 267.

Amid the din, the government passed the Cinematograph Amendment Bill, of 2023, to curb film piracy.

Congress leader in the Lok Sabha Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury said that the Centre should take up the no-trust motion first instead of getting Bills passed in the House. Passing the bills before taking up the no-trust motion is an insult to Parliament, he said.

The Centre has passed seven crucial bills in Lok Sabha after the no-trust motion was accepted. The Opposition alleges that parliamentary traditions are being subverted by the passage of bills after a no-confidence motion has been admitted.

Earlier in the morning, the delegation of MPs which visited Manipur briefed the floor leaders of the Opposition alliance INDIA. Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge and senior leader Sonia Gandhi also attended the meeting. Speaking to this paper, RSP MP N K Premachandran, who was part of the delegation, said that the MPs discussed the situation in the strife-torn state and put forward a slew of suggestions.

The Rajya Sabha was, meanwhile, repeatedly adjourned amid the din created by Opposition. After showing reluctance last week, the government has agreed for a discussion over the Manipur issue.

As the House reassembled after four adjournments at 3.30 pm, Rajya Sabha chairman Jagdeep Dhankhar informed the members that the government is agreed on a discussion on the situation in violence-hit Manipur.

Dhankhar said, "We are not setting a good example for the nation. The entire nation is watching us. The government is ready for a discussion on Manipur."

GNCTD Bill may be tabled in Parliament on Wednesday

AMIT PANDEY @ New Delhi

THE Centre is set to propose revisions to the Government of the National Capital Territory of Delhi (GNCTD) Bill, which is expected to be tabled in Parliament on Wednesday.

The GNCTD Bill, also known as the Delhi Service Bill, has long been a contention between the AAP-led Delhi government and the Centre. The proposed amendments aim to address key concerns and redefine the balance of power between the two administrations.

According to AAP sources, there will be three major deletions and one addition to the GNCTD (Amendment) Bill. These changes seek to replace the previous ordinance issued by the Centre in May, which had overridden a Supreme Court order asserting that the elected government in Delhi, rather than the Centre, should have control over the transfer and appointments of bureaucrats in the capital.

The copy of the bill accessed by this newspaper revealed one crucial deletion from the original ordinance: the restriction placed on the Delhi Assembly from enacting laws concerning 'State Public Services and State Public Service Commission'. This contentious provision has been dropped from the revised bill.

Section 3A, introduced through the earlier ordinance, explicitly denied the Delhi Assembly the power to create service-related laws. This provision is now omitted from the amended bill. Instead, the focus has shifted to Article 239AA, which empowers the Centre to establish the National Capital Civil Service Authority.

One-third of India rain deficient despite surplus in first half of monsoon

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

INDIA received overall normal rainfall in the first half of the monsoon. The Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) has forecast normal monsoon for second half (August-September)of the season too. However, the east and northeast regions have received one of the lowest rainfalls in July.

Out of total of 718 sections, 240 districts remained high rain deficient. These districts are mostly confined to the country's east and northeast regions, especially eastern Uttar Pradesh, eastern Madhya Pradesh, Bihar, Jharkhand, Gangetic West Bengal, northeastern states and Kerala. The east and northeast received 25 per cent deficient rainfall in the past two months.

The rainfall over east and northeast India was the third lowest (280.9 mm) in July since 1901. The previous lowest rainfall years were 2022 (234.8 mm) and 1903 (249.5 mm).

July saw extremely heavy rainfall incidents. The month broke all records of the past five years. There were 1,113 incidents of 'very heavy' rainfall and 205 'extreme heavy' rainfall incidents. Cities, including Chandigarh, Ambala and other weather stations of Himachal Pradesh such as Kullu, Solan, Shimla, Kangra, Sirmaur, Hamirpur, etc., broke all-time record in one-day rain. Northwest India received highest rainfall (258.6 mm) since 2001.

Consequently, extreme rainfall in India's Northwest and southern peninsular region made 6% seasonal surplus rainfall of the normal which were reeling under deficit rainfall of 10% at the end of June with three out of four regions were deficient rainfall. (see table)

IMD listed out factors behind extreme rainfall as no impact of El Nino and more number of Western Disturbances.

Besides rainfall, July was the eighth warmest month and second coldest month since 1901. East & Northeast India observed warmest minimum temperature since 1901.

Though IMD has forecast normal rainfall for the second half of the monsoon, the forecast for August is below normal. In its monthly forecast, IMD said east and northeast India, Himalayas will receive more than normal rainfall andthe southern peninsular and western regions of the country will receive below rainfall.

Ahead of Mumbai meet, JDU pitches for Nitish as PM

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

AHEAD of the Opposition leaders's third round of meeting slated to be held in Mumbai, Bihar chief minister Nitish Kumar's party, JD (U) has once again revived the demand of projecting him as the Opposition's Prime Ministerial candidate.

Several former JD (U) ex-MPs and former legislators contended there was no better PM candidate than Nitish in the Opposition alliance, INDIA. Nitish had held meetings with them at 1, Anne Marg, the official residence of CM. "We want Nitish ji to be made the Prime Ministerial candidate. If this happens, INDIA will gain significantly," they claimed.

Nitish is giving special attention to strengthening his party before the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. Regarding this, he is holding one-on-one meetings with all the old and new leaders of the party and is also taking feedback from them about the ground level realities.

The former MPs and legislators after calling on Nitish asserted that Nitish's political career had been clean all these years and was fully qualified to be declared as the Opposition's ministerial candidate. "He deserved to be declared as Opposition's PM candiate," said a senior JD(U) leader on condition of anonymity.

Nitish, however, has repeatedly said that he was not in the race of PM's post. "All that I want is to defeat the BJP in the Lok Sabha election," he had said. Nitish had first met JD (U) MPs, MLAs, MLCs and ministers last month. After that, he has met former party MPs, MLAs and MLCs and has taken feedback from them on issues. It is being speculated that Nitish may hold a meeting with the district heads soon.

After Mahatma, Sambhaji Bhide targets Sai Baba

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE pro-Hindutva activist Sambhaji Bhide alias Manohar Bhide stoked another controversy on Monday after stating that Hindus must stop going to Saibaba temple, he is not a Hindu god.

Bhide said that Hindus revere Sai Baba but they should check whether he really deserves it. "Hindus, first of all, should remove Sai Baba's photos and idols from their homes and throw them away. I am not a mental person. I am saying this with responsibility. Sai Baba should not be treated as God at all," Bhide claimed.

Oppositions have protested against Bhide for his serious remarks against Mahatma Phule, Mahatma Gandhi, Pandit Nehru, and recently, against Sai Baba. The Congress, both the factions of NCP protested on Monday. Ajit Pawar factions NCP conducted a silent protest at Gandhi statue near Mantralaya in Mumbai.

Earlier, Bhide passed remarks against Mahatma Gandhi, claiming his father was Muslim and that he has historical evidence for it too. Maharashtra home minister Devendra Fadnavis said they will not tolerate any derogatory comments against national icons.

Cracks in MVA: Pawar asked to stay away from PM meet

NCP chief scheduled to attend function where Modi will be honoured

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Opposition on Monday urged NCP chief Sharad Pawar not to attend the August 1 function in Pune where Prime minister Narendra Modi will be conferred with Lokmanya Tilak National Award for 2023 in recognition of his leadership and for awakening the feeling of patriotism among citizens.

Shiv Sena (UBT) Rajya Sabha MP Sanjay Raut said Pawar's presence in the function will create confusion in the mind of Opposition leaders and workers. He said Pawar is senior most leader of Opposition unity alliance — I.N.D.I.A.

Raut said Maha Vikas Aghadi and INDIA alliance partners feel that the NCP chief should avoid attending the Pune function. He said they are not unhappy with Pawar, but they are expressing their feelings and now it is up to him whether to present or not to present in the programme.

"Who should get what sort of award is not our concern. We will not go into it. But we as part of Opposition unity feel is that Sharad Pawar attending the programme where Modi is getting the award will send a wrong message and confuse the alliance and its workers. This is the time we have to take the stand against the BJP who are destroying every independent institutions," Raut said.

Pawar should work to clear the doubts and confusion among the workers and leaders of Opposition unity, he added. "Pawar knows better than anyone else what confusion his attendance can create? He should strengthen the alliance and the Opposition unity ahead of the Lok Sabha elections We will not advise him. He is a very senior leader," Raut said.

On the other hand, Maharashtra Congress leaders said if Pawar is not cancelling his programme in Pune, then he should use this platform and the opportunity to raise the Manipur violence before the Prime minister Narendra Modi who has been silent for more than 70 days on this major incident. Pawar should seek answers from the PM.

"PM should be also accountable for his act and inactions," said Balasaheb Thorat, a senior Congress leader.

Rohit Pawar, NCP MLA and grand nephew of Sharad Pawar said people should not mix the politics with the social function. He said Pawar in his political career never mixed the social and personal relations in politics. "Sharad Pawar will surely attend the programme in Pune," he said.

> We as part of Opposition unity feel is that Sharad Pawar attending the programme where Modi is getting the award will send a wrong message to the alliance. It's time we have to take the stand against the BJP

New state Cong chief reads riot act to leaders

Following his appointment as president of the Gujarat Congress, MP Shaktisinh Gohil hinted that he is planning to make substantial changes in the unit soon. He suggested that individuals in high positions who are not active at the ground level would be removed. According to sources, Shaktisinh made these remarks during a meeting of district and city presidents on Sunday at the Congress headquarters in Ahmedabad. "Those who work hard in the party will be given more importance. Be ready for change, act or quit," he said at the gathering.

Row over suspended BJP leaders meeting PM

There has been a lot of controversy in the state BJP circles after some suspended district-level BJP leaders met Prime Minister Modi. According to sources, 8 partymen were recently suspended by the Sabarkantha district unit for opposing the official party candidate in the cooperative bank elections. However, when Sabarkantha MP Dipsinh Rathore traveled to Delhi to meet with the PM, these leaders accompanied him. Local BJP leaders were left embarrassed after images of the MP and these rebel leaders went viral on social media, and they have avoided meetings since then.

Suspense over state BJP chief CR Patil's fate

The three-year tenure of the state BJP president expires in July, but the party has not stated whether the incumbent, CR Patil, would keep his post or a new appointee will take his place. Sources have claimed that he will be put in charge of certain major states in the forthcoming elections, or that he will be appointed to the Union cabinet, but there is no clarity on the issue. Some BJP leaders now claim that ahead of Lok Sabha Polls, Patil will be appointed as president of the state unit again as the party had scored a historic victory under his leadership, however, the final picture is yet to emerge.

Brij Bhushan camp files names for all 15 posts

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

AFTER several rounds of meetings including one with Union home minister Amit Shah in the last 24 hours, sidelined Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh chose Sanjay Kumar Singh as one of his panel's candidates for the president's post. Olympian Jai Prakash is another candidate for the same post from his camp. They have filed papers for all 15 posts. The rival faction, too, has filed but not for all positions as they do not have as many candidates. Sanjay, who hails from Varanasi, is a big landlord and has stakes in almost all agribusiness in eastern Uttar Pradesh. He is seen as a staunch supporter of Brij Bhushan.

Currently, he is the vice president of the UP Wrestling Association and joint secretary of the WFI. Given the hold Brij Bhushan has over voters as of now, Sanjay hold the egde for president's post. Jai Prakash is the backup. If insiders are to be believed, when Brij Bhushan helped BJP form the government in Goa in 2017, Sanjay was present by his side and it remains that way. "Whenever Brij Bhushan comes to Varanasi, his helicopter lands at Sanjay's farmhouse," one of the close confidantes of Sanjay said.

2 home guards killed, 20 hurt as communal clashes break out in Haryana's Nuh

UJWAL JALALI & HARPREET BAJWA
@ New Delhi/Chandigarh

AT least two home guards were killed, around 20 others were injured and more than 80 vehicles were set ablaze during communal clashes that broke out in Nuh district of Haryana on Monday. By the evening, the violence spread to Gurugram borders with stone pelting being reported from the Ambedkar Chowk in Sohna. At least 12 police personnel, who had been injured in Nuh, were taken to Medanta, Gurugram.

The Haryana government suspended internet services in Nuh till August 2 and Section 144 of the CrPC was imposed in both Nuh and Gurugram districts. All educationsla institutes will remain shut on Tuesday. One of the deceased home guards has been identified by cops as Neeraj Kumar, while DSP of Hodal Sajjan Singh has suffered a bullet wound on his head and inspector Sandeep Kumar, in-charge of the Crime Unit in Sector 40, Gurugram, had a gunshot injury on his stomach.

The clashes erupted in Muslim-dominated Nuh after unidentified people tried to stop the 'Brij Mandal Jalabhishek Yatra' of right-wing outfits VHP and Bajrang Dal following reports of Monu Manesar, an alleged cow vigilante and an accused in the Nasir Junaid murder case in Haryana's Bhiwani, joining religious procession.

He, however, didn't turn up. But a video posted by a Bajrang Dal member in Ballabhgarh aggravated the situation. Stones were thrown at the procession, which led to communal clashes during the yatra, which was flagged off from Gurugram's Civil Lines by BJP district president Gargi Kakkar.

Caught in the crosshair, thousands of people took shelter at the Nalhar Mahadev Temple in Nuh and remained stranded for hours before they were rescued. There were also reports of firing at the temple.

JOINT OPS

No trace of J&K missing soldier as search continues

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

MASSIVE search operation to trace the missing soldier Javed Ahmed in Kulgam, south Kashmir continued for the second consecutive day on Monday. There is still no trace of the missing soldier even as security men questioned a dozen people and are analyzing his call records and mobile data.

A police official said a joint search operation by the police, army and CRPF continued for the second day today. The security men have pressed sniffer dogs into service to trace the missing soldier.

The village is adjacent to the missing soldier's native hamlet Asthal in Kulgam and the nearby forest area are being thoroughly searched by the security men, the police official said.

25-year-old Javed Ahmed Wani, who belongs to JAKLI and is posted in Leh Ladakh, had gone missing on Saturday evening after he left home to buy some food items.

Javed, who had joined the army in 2014, was on leave and was supposed to rejoin duties on Sunday. The car in which he was travelling was recovered from Paranhall village in Kulgam with its doors open.

Kukis step up demand, want Meitei cops to be withdrawn from Moreh

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

IN strife-torn Manipur, a tribal organisation is mounting pressure on the government demanding the withdrawal of state police force from the India-Myanmar border town of Moreh in Kuki-majority Tengnoupal district.

The women's wing of Indigenous Tribal Leaders' Forum (ITLF) staged a sit-in in Moreh in support of the demand. The ITLF warned of staging the protest in all hill districts of the state if the demand was not met with by 6 pm of Monday.

In Tengnoupal district, Kuki-Zo women enforced a blockade on the Imphal-Moreh road to prevent state police forces from heading towards Moreh. Earlier, the ITLF expressed its concern over the Manipur government's alleged attempt to station state security forces in the border town.

"It is common knowledge that Meitei security forces are openly supporting the majority community in the present ethnic conflict. This is why, tribal women in Moreh are blocking the national highway in an effort to stop state forces from entering the border town," the tribal organisation had said.

It said there were fears that members of two Meitei radical groups were "embedded" with police commandos and could wreak havoc if they entered Moreh.

"...the majority of civil and police officers in Tengnoupal district are from the majority Meitei community," the ITLF said.

Stating that Union home minister Amit Shah had promised during his last visit to Manipur that no security forces would be stationed in Moreh, the organisation requested the state to withdraw all "Meitei security personnel" from the town to maintain neutrality.

Radical groups

It said there were fears that members of two Meitei radical groups were "embedded" with police commandos and could wreak havoc if they entered Moreh. "...most police officers in Tengnoupal are from the majority Meitei community, including the additional district superintendent of police," the ITLF said.

Tension grips Raj town after schoolgirl says urine mixed in her water bottle

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

COMMUNAL tension gripped Luharia town in Rajasthan's Bhilwara district after an 8th standard girl complained that her water bottle was contaminated with urine by two boys in her class.

They also allegedly dropped a chit in her bag on which 'I love you' was scribbled. The incident allegedly took place on Friday.

As the boys belonged to another community, tensions quickly started flaring up as the news about the incident spread in the locality. Since then, many locals have locked up the school and launched protests against the incident, strongly supported by Hindutva organisations. After the incident, markets in the town closed down and the police took a number of miscreants into custody.

The incident occurred at Government Senior Higher Secondary School in Luharia village in Bhilwara district. It involved the act of giving a girl student a water bottle mixed with urine and placing a love letter in her bag. On Monday, tensions escalated as people from the two sides confronted each other over the incident that happened on Friday. The situation resulted in stone pelting, leading to the damaging of the glasses of a police jeep that arrived at the scene.

The police had to earlier resort to using force to control the disturbance, and as a precautionary measure, additional police forces were deployed in the village.

According to Additional Superintendent of Police Ghanshyam Sharma, the incident came to light on Friday when the girl student returned home for lunch and discovered an unpleasant smell while drinking water from her water bottle.

It then came to the fore that some boys had mixed urine in the water bottle and placed a love letter inside her bag.

The girl reported the incident to the school principal but no action was taken. As a result, when the school reopened on Monday, frustrated individuals lodged complaints with both the Tehsildar Luharia police post in-charge and the school principal.

However, when no effective action was taken in response, these individuals resorted to stone pelting, particularly targeting a specific community's locality. The police intervened and dispersed the crowd by launching a lathicharge.

Police are prepared to take action against those involved in the stone-pelting.

No action on complaints

The girl reported the incident to the school principal but no action was taken. When no effective action was taken after complaints, some individuals resorted to stone pelting, particularly targeting a specific community's locality. The police intervened and dispersed the crowd by resorting to lathicharge.

Chandrayaan-3 slingshots towards Moon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHANDRAYAAN-3 was due to exit the Earth's orbit in the early hours of August 1. The spacecraft is the third mission in ISRO's efforts toward lunar exploration. At the time of going to press, Chandrayaan-3 was to have successfully completed its fourth orbit-raising manoeuvre around the Earth. The spacecraft was making its way towards the Moon, in what is known as the TransLunar Injection.

ISRO predicted that the spacecraft would exit the Earth's orbit between 12 midnight and 1am on August 1. The event is significant as it makes use of the Propulsion Module carried by the spacecraft. Chandrayaan-3 consists of a propulsion module, lander and rover. The propulsion module is responsible for carrying the spacecraft out of orbit from Earth towards orbit around the Moon, following which the spacecraft will continue to orbit the Moon until it lands later this month.

1ST CARGO-PASSENGER COACH TO BE ROLLED OUT SOON

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

IN a first in the country, the Rail Coach Factory (RCF), Kapurthala has designed a double-decker coach for the Indian railways along the lines of the belly freight concept which would be rolled out in August.

Sources said that the coach will have 46 seats on the executive upper deck which would have a pantry and toilets while the lower deck will be able to store up to six tonnes of cargo.

The concept was designed during the Covid pandemic when passenger movement was low and the Railways earned revenue mainly from cargo transportation. "Two to three designs were made but the Railway Board approved this design," said a senior officer of the RCF on the condition of anonymity. "We are yet to work out the price modalities but each coach is expected to cost in the range of Rs 2.70 to Rs 3 crore," he disclosed.

"The belly freight concept is widely used in the airplanes for transportation of cargo. The goods are transported in lower deck of the passenger aircraft while passengers occupy the upper deck. May airlines combine cargo with passenger traffic to reach a better occupancy rate of space available on a flight. We used this concept in designing this coach," he said.

Talking to this newspaper, Ashesh Agrawal, general manager, RCF, Kapurthala said, "We are making the first cargo liner in the country which will most probably be rolled out in August. It will allow transportation of six tons of cargo on the lower deck while 46 passengers will be able to occupy the upper deck. It is unique design and will be fully air-conditioned."

"We expect that the prototype coach will be ready by next month and then it will send for trial to the Research Designs and Standards Organization (RDSO), a research and development organization under the Ministry of Railways. Once the trial is successful, more coaches will be manufactured and rolled out by us on the concept of cargo liners," he added.

Sources said that once these coaches pass the trial phase, they will be manufactured in line with the Railways' proposal to come up with two such trains with 20 coaches each.

These trains will be rolled out based on the concept of cargo-liners and will run regularly as scheduled service on a fixed route between designated points while carrying consignments of various commodities.During the financial year 2022-23, the Railways' freight revenue leapfrogged to ₹1.62 lakh crore, a growth of nearly 15 per cent over the previous year.

It is learnt that the RCF, Kapurthala would also manufacture 16 coaches of the Vande Bharat train in the current financial year.

Tensions rise as Saudi, Iran fight over Persian Gulf gas field

An escalating dispute over a gas field in Persian Gulf poses a challenge to a Chinese-brokered agreement to reconcile rivals Saudi Arabia and Iran

CLAIMS TO THE GAS FIELD

Saudi Arabia and Kuwait jointly claim the offshore Al-Durra gas field. Iran says it has rights to the field, which it refers to as Arash. The two sides held talks in Iran in March but were unable to agree on border demarcation

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS

Saudi Arabia and Iran, which have backed opposite sides in conflicts across the Middle East and accused each other of destabilising the region, formally restored diplomatic relations in April following a seven-year freeze. They have since reopened embassies and welcomed senior officials on visits

But they continue to back opposite sides in Yemen's civil war, which is ongoing despite a 15-month cease-fire.

KUWAIT AND SAUDI'S ALLIANCE

Saudi Arabia has sided with Kuwait, saying the two countries have exclusive ownership of the field, and has called on Iran to return to negotiations

TENSIONS HIGH IN THE PERSIAN GULF

It's unclear whether the dispute over the gas field, which goes back to the 1960s, will escalate beyond rhetoric. But tensions are already high in the Persian Gulf, where the US is building up military forces in response to what it says is Iran's unlawful seizure of oil tankers and harassment of commercial vessels.

We have expressed our readiness to engage in dialogue with the Kuwaiti side. But if there is no interest in mutual utilization of this joint field, the Islamic Republic of Iran has naturally put the exploration and utilization of the resources on its agenda.

W African nations threaten to send military to Niger

Putsch leaders told to reinstate country's president within a week

NIAMEY

WEST African nations have given Niger's coup leaders one week's time to reinstate the country's democratically elected president and have threatened to use force if the demands aren't met.

The announcement came at the end of an emergency meeting of West African countries Sunday in Nigeria, where the regional bloc, known as ECOWAS, convened to respond to last week's military takeover.

President Mohamed Bazoum remains under house arrest and has yet to resign.

"In the event the authority's demands are not met within one week, (the bloc will) take all measures necessary to restore constitutional order in the Republic of Niger. Such measures may include the use of force," said the statement.

The bloc also imposed strict sanctions, including suspending all commercial and financial transactions between ECOWAS member states and Niger and freezing of assets in regional central banks.

Economic sanctions could have a deep impact on Nigerians, who live in the third-poorest country in the world, according to the latest UN data. The country relies on imports from Nigeria for up to 90% of its power, according to the International Renewable Energy Agency.

The sanctions could be disastrous and Niger needs to find a solution to avoid them, the country's Prime Minister Ouhoumoudou Mahamadou told French media outlet Radio France Internationale on Sunday.

"When people say there's an embargo, land borders are closed, air borders are closed, it's extremely difficult for people ... Niger is a country that relies heavily on the international community," he said.

The 15-nation ECOWAS bloc has unsuccessfully tried to restore democracies in nations where the military took power in recent years. Four nations are run by military governments in West and Central Africa, where there have been nine successful or attempted coups since 2020.

In the 1990s, ECOWAS intervened in Liberia during its civil war. In 2017, it intervened in Gambia to prevent the new president's predecessor, Yahya Jammeh, from disrupting the handover of power. AFP

PAK ELECTION

Nawaz Sharif to be PM if PMN-L returns to power, says premier Shehbaz

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN'S Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif has said that Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) supremo Nawaz Sharif will be the next premier of the country if the party returns to power in the next general election.

Speaking on the Geo News programme on Sunday, Shehbaz said the three-time former prime minister who has been living in self-imposed exile in London since 2019 will return to the country in the next few weeks.

The premier said his elder brother Nawaz Sharif, 73, would face the law upon his return to Pakistan, adding that he was sent abroad on medical grounds on the basis of a medical report prepared on the directives of former prime minister Imran Khan.

Nawaz Sharif was disqualified in 2017 by the Supreme Court. In 2018, he became ineligible to hold public office for life after a Supreme Court verdict in the Panama Papers case.

Before his departure to London on a four-week bail by the Lahore High Court on medical grounds, Nawaz Sharif was serving a seven-year jail term in the Al-Azizia Mills corruption case.

Shehbaz Sharif said that a notification of the dissolution of the National Assembly will be sent to President Arif Alvi a few days ahead of the completion of the tenure at 12 midnight on August 12. Shehbaz Sharif, also the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) party president maintained that the PML-N would try to make seat adjustments with allied parties in the general elections, adding that the party would field its candidates in the constituencies where they could not reach a consensus.

A neutral person should be appointed to this position so that no one could question the results of the election

Shehbaz Sharif, Pakistan PM

He said the caretaker set-up would be agreed upon after consultation with allied parties, PML-N supremo Nawaz Sharif, and the leader of the opposition in the National Assembly.

Russian ballistic missile strikes kill five in Ukraine

MOSCOW

Russian ballistic missiles slammed into an apartment complex and a university building in the central Ukrainian city of Kryvyi Rih on Monday, killing five people and wounding 64 others as the blasts trapped residents beneath rubble, Ukrainian officials said.

One of the two missiles destroyed a section of the apartment building between the fourth and ninth floors, Interior Minister Ihor Klymenko said. Video showed black smoke billowing from corner units and burned out or damaged cars on a tree-lined street.

dead included a 10-year-old girl and her mother, according to Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy, who comes from Kryvyi Rih. More than 350 people were involved in the rescue operation, he said in a Telegram post.

The morning attack also destroyed part of the four-story university building.

Meanwhile, a Ukrainian artillery strike on partially occupied Donetsk province killed two people and wounded six others in the regional capital, according to Denis Pushilin, the Moscow-installed leader of the illegally annexed province.

A bus was also hit as Ukrainian forces shelled the city of Donetsk multiple times Monday, Pushilin said.

A recent Ukrainian counteroffensive, deploying weaponry supplied by Kyiv's Western allies and aimed at driving Russian forces out of occupied areas, intensified last week.

Quran set on fire again in Sweden amid protests

STOCKHOLM

TWO men set the Quran alight outside parliament in Stockholm on Monday, an AFP reporter saw, at a protest similar to previous ones that have sparked tensions between Sweden and Muslim nations.

Salwan Momika and Salwan Najem stomped the Muslim holy book, set its pages ablaze before slamming it shut, as they did at a protest outside Stockholm's main mosque in June – sparking outrage across West Asia.

The duo also staged a similar protest outside Iraq's embassy in Stockholm on July 20, where they stomped on the religious text but did not burn it.

Swedish police granted a permit for the protest by campaigners hoping to see the Quran banned in the country.

"I want to protest in front in front of Sweden's parliament and demand that the Quran be banned," organiser Salwan Najem wrote in the application, which has been viewed by AFP, adding that he would "burn the Quran there."

As at earlier protests, Momika and Najem were the only participants, with a small group of counter-protesters gathering outside the police cordon, according to an AFP reporter at the scene.

Around a dozen counter-protesters held up copies of the Quran, with some waving Iraqi flags, and shouted at Momika, who just as at earlier events wore sunglasses and grinned defiantly while taunting them.

Mats Eriksson, a spokesman for the Stockholm police told AFP that the event "had been conducted without any serious public order disturbances".

During the protest Momika also stomped on a picture of Shiite Muslim cleric and political leader Moqtada Sadr — whose followers had stormed Sweden's embassy in Baghdad in response to previous desecrations. They had started fires within the compound the night before the July protest.

ASIA MATTERS

PRESIDENT TO ASSESS OIL AND ENERGY SECTOR

In a bid to compete with other countries in the energy sector, Indonesia's president Joko Widodo asked for an evaluation of cost of natural gas production. Energy and Mineral Resources (ESDM) Minister Arifin Tasrif said, "An inter-ministerial team will evaluate the production costs, so we can ensure that the amount of gas produced aligns with the costs incurred." The minister also said this evaluation is necessary as it will help the nation boost its competitiveness in oil and gas sector. Indonesia also exports natural gas and oil to other countries around the world.

DEPUTY PM HAILS SIKHS' CONTRIBUTION

Sikhs in Singapore have distinguished themselves in their chosen professions and made significant contributions in diverse fields while retaining their culture, faith and unique identity, Deputy Prime Minister Lawrence Wong said. He was addressing the 75th anniversary celebration dinner of the Sikh Advisory Board (SAB) on Sunday. ''You have all distinguished yourselves in your chosen professions and made significant contributions in diverse fields... Crucially, Sikhs have done all this in Singapore while retaining their culture, faith and unique identity,'' he told the gathering.

TOURISM AIDS IN ECONOMIC RECOVERY

Thailand's central bank stated that due to an expansion in the tourism sector the country's economic recovery remained on track. Though the exports weren't expected to improve until later in the year, arrival of foreign tourists boosted their economy. Bank of Thailand has forecast economic growth at 3.6% this year and 3.8% next year.

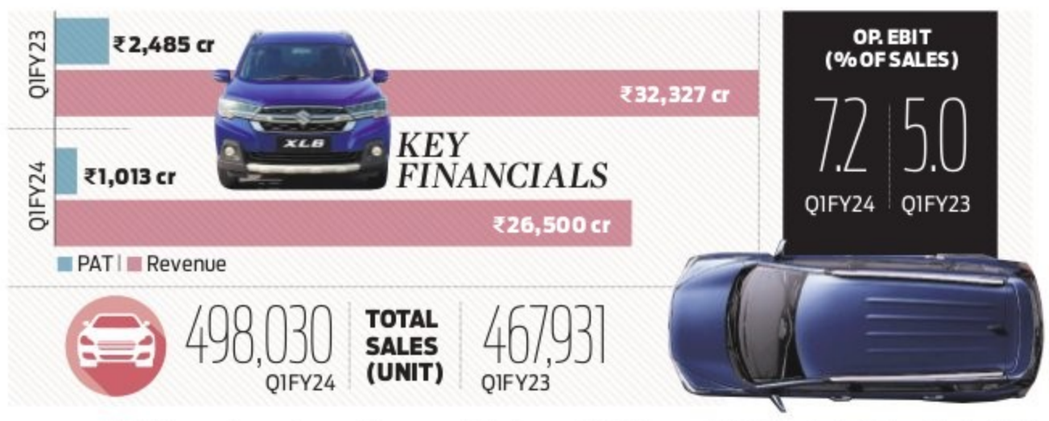
Maruti to acquire Suzuki Motor Gujarat

MSIL expects to complete transaction by Mar 31, 2024; SMG has installed production capacity of 7.5 lakh units per yr

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi



THE country's largest car maker, Maruti Suzuki (MSIL), is terminating the contract manufacturing agreement (CMA) and exercising the option to acquire shares of Suzuki Motor Gujarat (SMG) from parent company Suzuki Motor Corporation (SMC). MSIL expects to complete the transaction by March 31, 2024.

As per MSIL, they need to double their production capacity to about 4 million (40 lakhs) cars per annum by 2030-31 to meet future demand. This would happen over several locations and several powertrain technologies like EVs, Hybrids, CNG and Ethanol will co-exist for a reasonably long period of time.

"Managing this scale and complexity of production with multiple powertrains, under different managements, would pose several challenges. The Board of Directors considered this and decided that for the purpose of efficiency in production and supply chain, it is best to bring all production related activities under MSIL," said MSIL in a regulatory filing. MSIL Board's decision to sign a contract manufacturing agreement with SMC in 2014 was met with resistance from minority shareholders as the Gujarat plant was supposed to be housed under SMC and not MSIL. R C Bhargava, Chairman, MSIL in a press conference said the move has been necessitated by changing market environment and the current situation is not same as it was in 2014 when the structure of forming SMG was created. He added that how equity will be acquired and in what form is yet to be decided. MSIL board meeting is expected in next seven days.

Now that MSIL is taking over SMG, first electric vehicle (EV) production will be done by MSIL instead of SMG. SMC's plan to establish a battery plant in Gujarat is not a part of this transaction. SMG has an installed capacity of 7.5 lakh units per annum while MSIL can churn out 15, 80,000 units. SMG, incorporated under the Companies Act at Hansalpur, Ahmedabad, in 2015, has been manufacturing cars like Baleno, Swift, Dzire, and the recently launched Fronx for MSIL under a contract manufacturing agreement (CMA) signed in 2015. Shriram Subramanian, founder and MD of corporate governance advisory firm InGovern, said it is a positive development for shareholders but a lot depends on what MSIL would be paying to SMC. He said it could mean SMC's stake in MSIL may increase.

Meanwhile, MSIL, on Monday reported a 145% jump in its Q1FY24 net profit to ₹2,485 crore due to improved margins and lower commodity prices as against ₹1,013 crore in Q1FY23. Revenue from operations rose 22% year YoY to ₹32,327 crore in Q1FY24. However, when compared with Q4FY23 PAT, MSIL's profit in Q1FY24 saw a fall of over 5%. MSIL sold 498,030 vehicles, up 6.4% YoY. Shortage of electronic components in this quarter resulted in over 28,000 vehicles not being produced.

Binny Bansal, Tiger Global sell Flipkart stake to Walmart

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

FLIPKART co-founder Binny Bansal, Accel and Tiger Global Management have now exited the e-commerce firm Flipkart and with this, Walmart has expanded its stake in the company.

According to various reports, Walmart paid $1.4 billion to Tiger Global to buy its remaining shares in Flipkart.

Now, the ecommerce company is valued at about $35 billion. All three- Tiger Global, Accel and Binny Bansal have sold their remaining shares to Walmart.

Accel started investing in Flipkart in 2008 and Tiger Global Management began backing the ecommerce firm from 2010, according to Tracxn data. Recently, Accel was holding 1.1% stake in Flipkart and now it has exited the firm.

In 2018, Walmart paid about $16 billion for a 77% stake in the ecommerce firm. With these new developments, Walmart's stake in Flipkart is likely to hit 80%.

With the recent stake sale, Binny Bansal completely exited the ecommerce company that he co-founded in 2007 along with Sachin Bansal, who had sold his entire stake to Walmart in 2018.

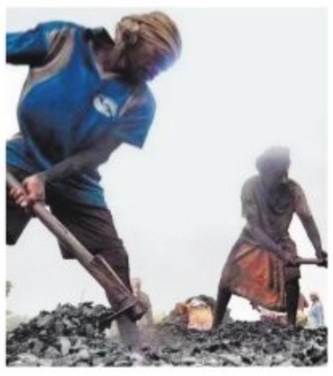
Binny Bansal was holding about 1.75% stake in Flipkart in 2022.

International media reports said that Tiger Global, which had held a minority stake in Flipkart, exited by making gains of about $3.5 billion. When asked about its acquisition of additional shares of Flipkart from investors, a Walmart spokesperson in a statement said, "We value Tiger Global's involvement and support over the last several years. We remain confident in the future of Flipkart and are even more positive about the opportunity in India today than when we first invested."

The spokesperson added, "We continue to be impressed with Flipkart's progress and remain focused on building a healthy, sustainable and profitable business for the long term, ensuring Flipkart continues to grow in an emerging and dynamic market."

Core sector growth hits 5-month high of 8.2% in Jun

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi



THE country's core sector growth hit a five month-high at 8.2% in June with 29.1% rise in steel output, according to commerce ministry data.

Output of the eight core sectors had grown at 5% in May and 4.3% in April. However, it slowed down as compared with the year-ago growth at 13.1%.

Refinery products registered a growth of 4.6% as compared with 15.1%, on account of global slowdown. Coal grew at 9.8%, significantly lower than the year-ago growth of 32.1%. In addition, cement recorded a growth of 9.4% as against 19.7% in the same month of the previous year.

Fertilizer output witnessed a lower growth at 3.4% as against 8.2% in a year-ago period, owing to base effect.

"The core sector growth recorded a resounding rise to a 5 month high 8.2% in June 2023, from 5.0% in May 2023, led by six of the eight constituents except cement and fertilizers. The tardy onset of the monsoon contributed to an improved performance of electricity, coal etc," Aditi Nayar, Chief Economist, Head - Research & Outreach, ICRA Ltd said.

"With the boost seen in mining and electricity from a dryer-than-normal June, we expect the YoY IIP growth to print at 4-6% in June 2023, in spite of the moderation in the YoY performance of several available high frequency indicators," she further stated.

Meanwhile, Gaura Sengupta, India Economist, IDFC First Bank said that both the steel and cement sectors are getting support from front loaded capex expenditure by the centre and state governments.

Fiscal deficit in April-June at 25.3% of FY24 target

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S fiscal deficit increased to 25.3% of the full year target at Rs4.51 lakh crore in the April-June period, as per the government data.

The government has set a target of ₹17.86 lakh crore for the current fiscal. It stood at ₹3.5 lakh crore or 21.2% of the budget estimate in the corresponding period of prvious year. The capital expenditure stood at ₹2.78 lakh crore or 27.8% of the full year in the first quarter of FY23.

In the same period of last year, it stood at ₹1.75 lakh crore. The Centre has set a capex target of ₹10 lakh crore for this financial year as it thinks capex is the only way right now to beat global slowdown. It spent Rs 1.1 lakh crore in the form of capex in June as compared with ₹89,332 crore in May this year. Total expenditure of the government stood at ₹10.5 lakh crore during April-June 2023, which amounted to 23.3% of the Budget Estimate. "While net tax revenues reported a contraction of 14%, non tax revenues surged by 149% boosted by the RBI dividend, amidst a flattish revenue expenditure, and a 59% YoY expansion in capex," Aditi Nayar, Chief Economist, Head - Research & Outreach, ICRA Ltd said. "Gross tax collections recorded a mild 3% rise in Q1 FY2024, with a continuing contraction in corporate tax collections, offsetting the growth in private income tax and GST collections," she further added.

Over 6.5 crore income tax returns filed till July 31

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

MORE than 6.50 crore income tax returns (ITRs) for 2022-23 were filed as on July 31 (till 6 pm), the last day for filing returns for salaried taxpayers and other non-tax audit cases.

Last year, 5.83 crore income tax returns were filed as of July 31.

On the last day on Monday, 36.91 lakh income tax returns were filed till 6 pm.

The e-filing website of the Income Tax Department witnessed more than 1.78 crore successful logins till 6 pm on Monday.

Income tax returns filed on the last day this year is, however, half of what was filed on the last day previous year (72.42 lakh ITRs were filed on July 31 ,2022).

This shows that most income tax filers this year did not wait for the last day to file their returns.

Unlike earlier, the government has not been extending the deadline by five-seven days. Instead they are asking assesses to file income tax returns after the deadline by paying penalty.

If a person misses the deadline for filing income tax returns by July 31, the individual has to pay a penalty of ₹1,000 if the income is not more than ₹5 lakh, while the penalty for filing income tax return after the deadline for individuals having income more than ₹5 lakh is ₹5,000.

Aviation regulator renews Jet Airways' air operator certificate till September 3

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AVIATION regulator Directorate DGCA has again renewed Jet Airways' air operator certificate (AOC) after the same expired recently.

The renewal or an extension till September 3 is being done under certain conditions.

"In view of the fact that Jet Airways is still under CIRP as per Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016; NCLT & NCLAT having the jurisdiction in respect of the insolvency of the company have granted extension(s)/exclusion(s) of time for implementation of the approved resolution plan upto September 3, 2023, DGCA has extended the AOC in respect of Jet Airways for a period up to September 3, 2023, only for the limited purpose of completing the ongoing CIRP, subject to conditions," said DGCA on Monday.

According to the watchdog, the conditions are: "Jet Airways shall be required to undergo re-certification in accordance with the procedure... for issuance of AOC and demonstrate compliance of all the applicable regulatory requirements afresh before commencement of flight operations."

"Fee as applicable for issuance of AOC, shall be payable for such re-certification. Jet Airways shall submit a firm action plan for revival of operations after the company is taken over by the Successful Resolution Applicant in accordance with the NCLT approved resolution plan."

The Jalan Karlock consortium, the successful bidder of the airline, said renewal of AOC validated confidence of the aviation regulator about the revival of Jet Airways.

Airtel prepays ₹8,024 cr to partly clear spectrum fees

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TELECOM service provider Bharti Airtel has prepaid ₹8,024 crore to the Department of Telecommunication (DoT) towards part prepayment of deferred liabilities pertaining to spectrum acquired in auction of year 2015.

The company said the installment had an interest rate of 10% and have been prepaid, leveraging much lower cost financing available to it.

"Airtel continues to enjoy access to well-diversified sources of capital/financing, allowing it to have enhanced financial flexibility in its capital structure including optimised cost of financing using all opportunities for significant interest savings, like this prepayment," said the company in an exchange filing.

Last year in March, Airtel had prepaid ₹8,815 crore to clear dues of the airwaves it bought in 2015 and ₹15,519 crore in December 2021 to fully repay dues for spectrum bought in 2014. It is believed that the move will help the telco to save on interest costs annually and boost cash flows. The company has been rapidly rolling out its 5G services in the country since October 2022. According to the government data, Airtel has installed 53,223 5G towers in the country till July 7, 2023. The company aims to cover all major Indian cities by September 2023. The Sunil-Mittal-led-telco had invested $19 billion to buy 5G spectrum last year. The telco secured spectrum worth ₹43,084 crore ($5.24 billion), out of which it has repaid ₹8,312 crore.

SBI raises ₹10,000 crore via infra bonds

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

STATE BANK OF INDIA (SBI), country's largest lender, on Monday raised ₹10,000 crore at a coupon rate of 7.54% via its third infrastructure bond issuance.

The 15-year infra bonds issuance saw strong response from investors with bids of ₹21,698 crore and was oversubscribed by 4.34 times against the base issue size. Bonds received 115 bids from investors which included provident funds, pension funds, insurance companies, mutual funds and corporates.

Based on the response, the bank decided to accept ₹10,000 crore at a coupon rate of 7.54% payable annually for a tenor of 15 years. The coupon of 7.54% reflects a spread of 13 basis points over the corresponding government securities (G-Sec) curve. "The proceeds of bonds will be utilized in enhancing long-term resources for funding infrastructure and the affordable housing segment," said SBI in a statement. "This issuance is also very significant as despite the recent hardening of yields, the Bank has been successful in raising 15-year long-term bond successively at a finer spread and it will help the bank in lending long term to infrastructure. We believe this issuance may help in developing a long-term bond curve and encourage banks to issue bonds of longer tenor," it added.

The strong response from investors may encourage other banks to issue longer-term bonds. This is the first issuance of long-term bond by any bank for this tenor in the current financial year. Prior to this, in January this year, SBI had raised another set of infrastructure bonds worth ₹9,718 crore at a spread of 17 bps over the standard government bond rates.

The bank's first infrastructure bond issuance was in December 2022 through which it raised ₹10,000 crore at a coupon rat e of 7.51%.

Brij Bhushan flexes muscle, faction names his close aide for prez post

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

A COUPLE of voters might have switched loyalties but the embattled Wrestling Federation of India president Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh seems to be in control as far as the election on August 12 is concerned. As reported by this daily, the Uttar Pradesh strongman, who is also a BJP member of parliament from Kaiserganj, met Home Minister Amit Shah on Monday morning before having a round of talks with representatives from almost 20 state units at a five-star hotel in New Delhi.

By then the representative from Jammu & Kashmir wrestling association Dushyant Sharma, who attended the meeting on Sunday, was nowhere to be seen but it hardly mattered in the end. "Sanjay Kumar Singh is our candidate for the president's post. Jai Prakash, an Olympian and president of Delhi Association is the backup candidate," a source close to Brij Bhushan camp told this daily. The faction also filed two nominations for secretary with Chandigarh's Darshan Lal, also a WFI vice president, filing his candidatures along with Jai Prakash. "If Sanjay's nomination is accepted then we will choose one between Darshan and Jai Prakash for the post of secretary," added the source. Incumbent treasurer Satya Pal Deshwal is the lone candidate for the post from the faction.

As per the revised WFI constitution, an executive committee can have 15 members including a president, a secretary, a treasurer and a senior vice president apart from four vice presidents, two joint secretaries and five executive members. Asit Kumar Saha, West Bengal association president and existing senior vice president ID Nanavati from Gujarat are the two nominations for the lone senior vice president's post. The faction has filed six nominations for four posts of vice presidents and seven nominations for five posts of executive members.

Meanwhile, former Commonwealth Games gold medallist and only woman in the electoral college Anita Sheoran and

Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh | PARVEEN NEGI

Dushyant are the two candidates for the post of president from the rival camp. While Anita refused to speak on her nomination, Dushyant confirmed that he has filed the papers. "Yes, I have filed my nomination for the post of president," he said.

Prem Chand Lochab, the Railway Sports Promotion Board secretary, whose name was included in the electoral college from Gujarat association, has apparently filed his nomination for the post of secretary. Devender Kadyan, hotelier and a BJP leader from Haryana who is representing newly-affiliated Assam unit, has filed his nomination for the post of senior vice president.

"Apart from hotels, I also own a sports academy in Haryana. I have been doing my bit for sports and if elected, I would like to continue it through the WFI. Wrestling is the most followed sport in Haryana so it's like an opportunity for me to contribute towards the development of the sport," Kadyan told this daily. The returning officer Justice MM Kumar, retired chief justice of the J&K High Court, will prepare and display the nominations received on Tuesday. Scrutiny of nomination papers by the returning officer and then preparation and display of the list of validly nominated candidates will be done the next day. The withdrawal of candidatures can be done from August 3 to 5 while the preparation and display of the final list of contesting candidates will be done on August 7.

Top wrestlers from the country including Olympic medallists Bajrang Punia and Sakshi Malik along with two-time World Championships medallist Vinesh Phogat had launched a massive protest against Brij Bhushan on charges of sexual harassment in January this year. Brij Bhushan is ineligible to contest as he has already completed 12 years as head of the federation — the maximum period allowed as per the National Sports Code.

Given the massive protest against him, the government in the past has assured protesting wrestlers that no one from Brij Bhushan's family will contest the election. The assurance meant names of Brij Bhushan and his son Karan were not included in the list of representatives eligible to vote. Later, Sanjay and UP association secretary Prem Kumar Mishra replaced them on the list from the UP association.

The 29-year-old will be back in action at top level after 267 days

Returning Bumrah to lead India in Ireland

GOMESH S @Chennai

NINE months and 24 days after his last appearance, Jasprit Bumrah is all set to return to international cricket for the three-match T20I tour against Ireland that begins on August 18. Days after BCCI secretary Jay Shah said that the 29-year-old is fit and might return to action for the upcoming Ireland tour, the senior selection committee announced that the premium pacer will be leading the 15-member squad. Ruturaj Gaikwad will serve as his deputy.

Ever since he was ruled out of the 2022 Asia Cup, Bumrah's back injury and his return has been the One of the hottest topics in Indian cricket. He was brought back for the T20Is against Australia, before getting injured midway. In early 2023, he was added to the ODI squad for the home series against Sri Lanka before the selection committee went back on the decision.

Such has been the reliance of the Indian team on the pacer that before every series, there was a discussion on whether Bumrah would come back. There were occasions were he was put through match stimulation, but he faced discomfort and eventually underwent a surgery in March.

Since then, the roadmap has been clear for him. Caution was the first word when it came to his return, especially with a home ODI World Cup on the horizon. Earlier this month, the pacer had started bowling at the NCA and was expected to return for the Ireland tour. And with the seniors Rohit Sharma, Virat Kohli and Hardik Pandya rested

SQUAD

Jasprit Bumrah (C), Ruturaj Gaikwad (VC), Yashasvi Jaiswal, Tilak Varma, Rinku Singh, Sanju Samson (wk), Jitesh Sharma (wk), Shivam Dube, Washington Sundar, Shahbaz Ahmed, Ravi Bishnoi, Prasidh Krishna, Arshdeep Singh, Mukesh Kumar, Avesh Khan

for the tour — they, along with the other players who are in the scheme of things for the ODI World Cup are set to take part in a preparatory camp ahead of the Asia Cup that begins on August 31 — Bumrah will skipper the side.

Understandably, the selectors want to see how his body gets acclimatised to the shortest format before playing him in the 50-over format. "It is a fantastic call by the selectors. If he is suddenly exposed to ODIs, you don't know how he is going to respond. They have done the right thing by bringing him into the T20I squad," former chief selector MSK Prasad told this daily. "I think the NCA would have taken into cognizance all these factors into consideration. He has been out of action for quite a while, almost close to a year. I think this a good enough time to recover and these three matches will definitely show us where he stands. But am sure that he will comeback strong. Because the tactical part of it is already there in his mind, the only worry is about his body and how it will respond after all the recovery. The ideal way is to give him a progressive load which they have done."

The other big talking point of the squad is the return of Prasidh Krishna, who was out of action for several months due to a stress fracture. Prasidh, who returned to competitive cricket on Monday for the first time since his injury lay-off, took 4/36 for Mount Joy Cricket Club in the KSCA T20 Super League match against Sir Syed Cricketers at the M Chinnaswamy stadium. Prasad said that India should have at least ten fast bowlers at their disposal.

"Of course, Mohammed Shami, Mohammed Siraj, Bumrah, they are all seasoned cricketers. Prasidh is still in his early days and whatever opportunity he has gotten for the country, he did very well. Everybody has got high regards for him, he is a tall, hit the deck sort of a fast bowler and he is a bowler for all conditions. Going forward, we need to build this pace battery. If you see the age of some of the bowlers, they are all on the other side of 30. Whether he (Prasidh) gets selected for World Cup or even in the next cycle, I am keen to see him do well in Ireland," said Prasad.

One eye on Asiad, Rahim & Co. preparing for ACT

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

ONE of the most familiar of sights while watching the Malaysian hockey team is the evergreen Razie Rahim standing on top of the D, waiting to drag-flick the ball goalwards. The 35-year-old has been doing it for more than 15 years. With 300 caps under his belt, he's the side's elder statesman and an automatic part of the leadership group.

On Thursday, Rahim & Co. will start putting in place preparations they hope will bear fruit at the Asian Games. For while the Asian Champions Trophy is a tune-up event, the Asian Games doubles up as an Olympic qualifier. It's no surprise that his face lights when he speaks about the upcoming Games in Hangzhou. "It's a very important event for us," he says. When you have been playing for the national team since at least 2006, you may think about winding down your career, thinking about retirement. Razie, though, hasn't even thought about hanging up his sticks. "My dream, I still haven't achieved it," he says as another sticky late Chennai summer day winds down. "It's to play at the Olympics, that's my passion. That will be the drive for a lot of sportspersons and I'm no different." The last time the men's side featured at the Olympics, the year was 2000 and Rahim was still playing age-group hockey. Between then and now, Rahim reckons the main changes in the team have been harmony, fitness and tactics. When asked to elaborate on tactics, the defender is of the opinion that they have worked on new tactics keeping in mind the Asian Games. If he's selected, it will be the fifth Asiad. "The reason (for my longevity) is my discipline and fitness," he says.

Twenty minutes later, the side's coach, Arul Selvaraj supports his statement. "The only reason why he has been able to play for this long is the discipline he showed when he was 16-17-18," Selvaraj, who has been with the team for almost three years, says. Having established a bond with the team (at the World Cup they went out to Spain in the crossovers via a heartbreaking shootout), he's now happy to let the players 'make in-game substitutions', 'do powerpoint presentations on how to tackle different opponents on the field' and so on. Malaysia have never won an Asian level event (the closest they ever came was two runner-ups at the Asia Cup). While they do have the squad to make a run, Selvaraj will accept a scenario 'where their performances and the players don't pick up any major injuries'.

Slow, heavy surface

On the new turf itself, Malaysia feel that it's on the slower side. While two-time World Cup winner with Australia, Kieran Govers (here as a consultant with the side) was heard making the same point during a training session, Rahim also said the same thing. "Compared to Bhubaneswar, I think this is a slow and heavy surface. The ball tends to bounce a bit more but the players are getting used to it."

Can India avoid series defeat?

HAVING BEATEN INDIA IN THE SECOND ODI, HOSTS WEST INDIES WILL BE LOOKING TO SECURE A RARE SERIES WIN ON TUESDAY. A LOOK...

Rohit, Kohli to play?

Citing the "big picture", the team management had decided to rest Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli, who did not travel with the team to Trinidad, on Saturday. But with the series in the line, it will be interesting to see if at least one of them is back for the decider. And if they do, it would mean some chopping and changing, again.

Eyes on SKY, Samson

In the first game, Suryakumar Yadav batted at No. 3 and Sanju Samson did the same in the second. Yadav hasn't made a mark on both occasions while Samson too faltered on Saturday. With both fighting for a slot in the middle-order, whether they will play and if they do, where they will bat will tell the story.

Shai biggest hope for hosts

On Saturday, it was Shai Hope who kept calm and took West Indies home. Along with Keacy Carty, he held the nerves to see through the chase. After failing to qualify for the World Cup, a series win against India would come as a major boost to the Caribbean. And for that, they would want Hope and the others to come good on Tuesday.

WOMEN'S WORLD CUP

Matildas knock Olympic champs Canada out of tournament

AGENCIES @Melbourne

INJURED striker Sam Kerr was ready to play but wasn't required for Australia in a 4-0 win over Canada on Monday that earned the Women's World Cup co-hosts top spot in Group B. Australians, under pressure after a surprising 3-2 loss to Nigeria, needed a win to guarantee a spot in the round of 16. Canada needed only to avoid defeat to avoid elimination, but the Olympic champions exited the tournament following the loss in Melbourne combined with Nigeria's 0-0 draw with Ireland.

Haley Raso scored twice in the first half and the Matildas also got goals from Mary Fowler and Steph Catley to finish atop the group with six points — one ahead of Nigeria and two clear of Canada. The victory gives Kerr a full seven days to continue recovery ahead of Australia's opening knockout game. Kerr also missed the Matildas' previous two group-stage matches because of a calf injury sustained in training on the eve of their 1-0 tournament-opening win over Ireland.

Australia head coach Tony Gustavsson said the decision whether or not to start Kerr had "come down to the wire." Kerr was in her boots and ready to go on if needed, but tore off the tape around her left calf when Australia led 3-0 with minutes remaining in regulation. Canada captain Christine Sinclair returned to the starting lineup but was replaced at half-time with her team trailing 2-0.

All-time leading scorer in international football, Sinclair, returned to the starting 11 after only playing half of Canada's 2-1 win over Ireland.

Drawing of lots final resort

What happens if teams finishing even on points cannot be separated by all of FIFA's tournament tiebreakers following the completion of the group stage at the Women's World Cup? FIFA has confirmed it's the drawing of lots, So, luck of the draw really could determine which team advances to the Round of 16 and which team goes home. FIFA issued a statement explaining the drawing of lots "will only occur should all steps, as outlined in Article 13 of the Competition Regulations, prove unable to determine the ranking."

England's Stuart Broad celebrates with his teammates on Day 5 on Monday | AP

Broad walks into fairytale sunset; England level series

AGENCIES @London

STUART Broad delivered a fitting finale to his cricket career by taking the last two wickets to clinch England a series-tying victory on Day 5 of the fifth Ashes Test against Australia on Monday. An Ashes series that had pretty much everything ended with one last dramatic twist as England produced a stirring recovery in the final session to dismiss the Australians — who were chasing 384 to win the series 3-1 — for 334 and earn a 49-run victory at The Oval.

It was Broad who finished off the tourists, removing Todd Murphy and Alex Carey to take his career tally of wickets to 604 — fourth on the all-time list. The 37-year-old pacer announced Saturday he would be retiring after this Test and he got a perfect ending. The Australians slumped from 264-3, losing their last seven wickets for 70 runs and still haven't won an Ashes series in England since 2001. They'll return Down Under with the urn because, as the holders, they didn't lose the series but will see this as a big opportunity squandered after taking a 2-0 lead following wins in the first two matches.

BRIEF SCORES

England 283 & 395 in 81.5 ovs (Root 91, Bairstow 78; Starc 4/100, Murphy 4/131) bt Australia 295 & 334 all out in 94.4 ovs (Khawaja 69; Woakes 4/50).

As for the English, they will rue the rain that denied them a likely victory in the fourth test at Old Trafford — and therefore a chance at completing a series win at The Oval — but the team's recovery in a six-week stretch of five tests was another validation of its "Bazball" approach that is winning fans, if not quite the biggest series of them all. The series got the denouement it deserved, even though a rain delay of nearly three hours threatened to ruin the final day. It was a series that just kept on giving, from the first ball of the first test slapped for four by Crawley at Lord's right through to Broad's finale.

RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

DON'T LET PAIN BOG YOU DOWN

UNNIKRISHNAN S @T'Puram

EARLIER this year, Helen Monai achieved a monumental feat by scaling the Everest Base Camp. For the 29-year-old IT professional, it was a giant leap as eight years back Helen was struggling to even get up from bed or perform simple daily routines. She was suffering from rheumatoid arthritis.

Rheumatoid arthritis is an autoimmune form of arthritis where the immune system attacks healthy joint tissues, causing it to swell and become tender, in one or more joints. Most forms of arthritis are caused by a fault in the immune system. This may be inherited genetically while some other forms are caused by a metabolic condition. Awareness of the disease and timely intervention of a rheumatologist proved to be life-changing for Helen. With the support of her family, she sought the expertise of a doctor and began treatment before her condition deteriorated. Early diagnosis and proper management paved the way for her remarkable recovery, allowing her to scale the Everest Base Camp.

Not many are aware of this health condition caused by arthritis and often leads to people mistaking it with regular joint pain and resort to pain management through painkillers and ointments. Without proper treatment, the condition worsens progressively, severely affecting one's quality of life. As many are not familiar with rheumatology, which is a relatively new branch of modern medicine, they usually go to an orthopedician or a physician. A rheumatologist is usually found in a tertiary or a referral hospital. Arthritis is not a disease in itself, but a symptom of trouble inside the body. Delay in treatment can increase the risk. "Early diagnosis of the underlying disease is the key to a successful treatment outcome. Patients who start treatment early can lead a normal life," said Dr Padmanabha Shenoy, rheumatologist and MD of Dr. Shenoy's CARE in Kochi. He pointed out instances where patients who were bedridden for four to six years making a comeback.

However, the situation was not the same 25 years back. "A person becomes bedridden in five to ten years after the symptoms appear. They used to think that their life was over and confine themselves to the four walls of the room. If women in their productive age of 30's are affected, it has a ripple effect on their families," said Shenoy. He added that women are more predisposed to autoimmune diseases such as rheumatoid arthritis.

Autoimmune conditions like rheumatoid arthritis, lupus and vasculitis can affect any age group regardless of gender. Lupus commonly affects young women. "When associated with antiphospholipid antibody syndrome, lupus can result in recurrent abortions as well. Even though lupus is incurable, it can be well controlled with timely diagnosis and proper treatment, and patients can lead normal healthy life," said Dr Abitha Aliyar, associate consultant and rheumatologist at KIMS Health, Thiruvananthapuram.

Bhubaneswar-based senior orthopaedic surgeon Dr Basanta Behera said there are different physical therapies available for treatment of arthritis. The basic aim is to prevent development of deformity in joints by giving different splints and mobilisation of joints by physiotherapists.

"When joints like knee, hip, elbows and shoulder are damaged due to arthritis, joint replacement is the way out for complete recovery. People should also focus on good and balanced diet and take fresh fruits, fresh green vegetables and food having antioxidants and avoid junk food or fast food. Reduction of weight must be prioritised," Dr Behera added. A study conducted by Dr Shenoy found that awareness about arthritis and its complications are relatively low as the average delay for diagnosis was 60 months in 2010. It has come down to 24 months, but health experts want to bring it down further.

Experts say that better awareness of the disease and treatment would usher in a sea of difference in the life of patients. "The chances of misdiagnosis or underdiagnosis are very common. Doctors at the primary care level need to be sensitised about the disease till the patient-rheumatologist ratio improves," said Dr Abitha.

'Excessive milk intake leading cause of anaemia in kids'

NAMRATA SINDWANI @Bengaluru

Poor nutrition in India is one of the major reasons for a large population to be anaemic, a condition where the number of red blood cells or haemoglobin concentration is below normal. Low haemoglobin results in a low oxygen carrying capacity of blood to body tissues, causing symptoms like fatigue, weakness, dizziness and shortness of breath among others, according to the World Health Organisation (WHO).

Among different types of anaemia, the most common one is dietary deficiency of iron, putting young adolescents, menstruating girls and women, and pregnant, postpartum women at high risk. Iron deficiency largely occurs in vegetarians, especially children consuming more milk, according to experts. Dr Selvan R, a paediatrician and researcher from Tamil Nadu, said that meat is the best source of iron and only a few vegetarian food sources have good iron content. "Studies have shown that overconsumption of milk is the leading cause of anaemia in children over the age of one. There is a need for vegetarians to take sincere efforts to add iron to their diet. Green leafy vegetables, millet, unpolished rice and wheat are good sources of iron," he added.

Other than iron, vitamin A, B12 and folate deficiencies, anaemia can also be inherited, causing sickle cell anaemia, thalassemia, Fanconi anaemia or diamond-black fan anaemia. Despite initiatives taken by the government over the years like the 'Anaemia mukt Bharat' or 'Sickle cell anaemia elimination' programmes, it has not shown significant positive outcomes, Selvan said.

XPLAINER

Even the recent debate on anaemia cut-offs and dropping it from the National Family Health Survey (NFHS) - 6 and shifting it to a different survey with a much smaller sample size raised concerns over the quality of data as people from all socio-economic backgrounds will not be covered under the new survey. The Diet and Biomarkers Survey of India will only cover 1.8 lakh people, a much smaller sample size compared to NFHS (seven lakh people).

"Social, environmental and nutritional factors have to be considered when the normal range for biological values is being decided. Lowering cut-offs may reduce the prevalence of anaemia, but will it reduce clinical complications due to anaemia such as chronic infections, heart disease, abortions, premature/stillbirths and decreased scholastic performance among students," asks Dr Sunil Kumar Dodderi, president of Indian Association of Adolescent Health - Karnataka Chapter.

According to the 2022 National Library of Medicine report, one in four persons (27%) is affected by anaemia, of which developing countries alone account for more than 89 % of the burden. Failure to intervene at an early stage can lead to complications like extreme fatigue, pregnancy complications, heart problems and even death due to loss of blood in case of sickle cell anaemia.

'I HOPE PEOPLE TAKE NOTICE OF THE HISTORIES OF OTHER REGIONS TOO'

Public historian and author Anirudh Kanisetti speaks to CE about the upcoming OTT adaptation of his prized debut book Lords of the Deccan, a project helmed by actor and producer Rana Daggubati

TUNIR BISWAS

EVER since the 28-year-old author Anirudh Kanisetti wrote his debut book Lords of the Deccan: Southern India from Chalukyas to Cholas, he has been on a roll: from the book's rising popularity to receiving many coveted awards like the Yuva Puraskar by Sahitya Akademi. Recently, Kanisetti added yet another feather to his already heavily-quilled cap after the popular actor and producer Rana Daggubati announced the OTT adaptation of Lords of the Deccan. The upcoming historical drama series will be produced in association with Daggubati's Spirit Media and Sony LIV.

Kanisetti was absolutely elated when he got the news. "This has been an absolute dream. Rana was actually the chief guest at my 10th-grade farewell many years ago. So when my editor called me up and said that he was interested, it felt like things were coming full circle," he shares.

The OTT production has been announced in Telugu. Kanisetti adds, "Considering that it is going to be made by South Indians about South India's history, I really hope that we will be able to do some justice to the lives of our ancestors. But I also hope that more languages can be incorporated as I firmly believe that all parts of India belong to all of us, and we should all seek to understand India's past."

Daggubati is a household name in the Indian film fraternity and to the popular public historian, the whole affair was a bit intimidating in the beginning. "My mother has always been a big fan of Rana. So, it was a bit intimidating, but when the project started, it ran at such an exciting pace that I didn't have the time to sink in the fact that I was working with someone I had watched on the big screen. On top of that, Rana was also very humble throughout the process and was always open to hearing my ideas," he says. Daggubati made the first announcement of the show at the San Diego Comic-Con.

Usually, when a book is adapted to a show or a film, the script takes some radical changes because of the need to adjust to a more visual medium. But Kanisetti feels that it didn't happen in this case as he has already written the book in a visual manner. "When my editor and I were editing the book, we understood that our competition was not just other history books but also OTT services. We were in the business of competing for people's attention. So I wrote the book in a very visual manner. I don't believe that history should be boiled to only facts and figures but should instead give readers a sense of the vivid, colourful and dynamic times the world was during then," he concludes.

Recently, with films like Ponniyin Selvan, much-needed mainstream light has been put on the history of southern India. Kanisetti hopes Lords of the Deccan's adaptation further contributes to that. "I really hope it brings more light to the history of South India, but I also hope people take notice of the histories of other regions, especially the largely-neglected ones like the northeast and Odisha, for example. I'm really hoping that there is much curiosity about different regions and histories, which peaks the curiosity of not just publishers and writers, but also producers, filmmakers and artists," he concludes, mentioning that he is presently working on a book, a new history of the Chola world, which he hopes will be out next year.

The upcoming Indian Film Festival of Melbourne '23, with its focus on acclaimed Kannada motion pictures, is putting emphasis on the Kannada film fraternity

PUTTING THE SPOTLIGHT ON

MONIKA MONALISA

IT'S been a good year for Kannada cinema, and now it's making waves internationally also. Indian Film Festival of Melbourne (IFFM), which is from August 11-20, has a lineup of critically acclaimed Kannada films. Celebrating the cinematic brilliance and storytelling prowess of the Kannada film industry, IFFM, an annual celebration of Indian cinema held in Melbourne, Australia, has been trying to create a platform for regional movies this year.

Mitu Bhowmick Lange, director and founder of IFFM, says there is a huge diaspora who love watching films in different languages and Kannada is among them. "Kannada is such a major industry that churns out brilliant content year after year. Even our festival screenings of all the Kannada films are always filled. There's a huge demand for films from languages of southern India, and they have a loyal following even amongst those who are settled here," says Bhowmick-Lange.

The movies are being curated by the jury of IFFM. "Our amazing team scouts for some of the best films from across the Indian subcontinent. What we are most proud of is the diversity of films, languages, genres and formats we screen at IFFM. This year alone we have over 100 films curated for both in-person and online screenings in films across 25 languages. The idea is to promote Indian cinema that is inclusive and that is the centrepiece of our film curation," she explains. She adds, "This year, we have this amazing Kannada film Hadinelentu, which has been nominated for Best Film, Prithvi Konanur for Best Director and Akshatha Pandavapura has been nominated for Best Actress for Koli Esru."

Some of the Kannada movies selected:

Hadinelentu (Seventeeners) (FeatureFilm): Director Prithvi Konanur's movie is about a selfie sex video of two 17-year-olds shot in a classroom on the college campus that gets leaked on the internet, leading to irreparable damage in the lives of every stakeholder.

Kaadina Jeevantike (Spirit of the Forest) (Short Film): Kaadina Jeevantike, directed by Nandini Rao, Nirupa Rao, and Kalp Sanghvi is a poignant short film, which tells the tale of a little girl who stumbles into a sacred grove near her village in south India. She disturbs the spirit of the forest, which takes her on an adventure through time to illuminate the origins of this ancient swamp and her place in its continuing legacy.

Koli Esru (Chicken Curry) (Feature Film): Directed by Champa Shetty Koli Esru, the movie follows the life of Hucheeri, who is made to marry a drunkard by her stepmother. She undergoes many difficulties just to provide her beloved ten-year-old daughter a the taste of chicken curry.

A still from Shivamma

Stills from Hadinelentu

Shivamma (Feature Film): Directed by Jaishankar Arya, the movie is about Shivamma, a poverty-stricken woman from a remote village in north Karnataka, who wants to make it big by investing in a chain scheme business, which puts her daughter's imminent marriage at stake.

IFFM is gearing up to host some of the most well-known names from the Hindi film industry like Karan Johar, Mrunal Thakur, Kartik Aaryan, Saiyami Kher, Angad Bedi, Abhishek Bachchan, R Balki, Anurag Kashyap and Sunny Leone to name few. Veteran star Shabana Azmi will be hoisting the Indian flag to commemorate the 77th Independence Day.

This musical play, directed by veteran actor and filmmaker Rajendra Karanth, will explore the life and legacy of Kannada poet DR Bendre

A Musical Tribute

EXPRESS FEATURES

OFTEN touted as one of the greatest lyric poets in Kannada literature, DR Bendre is known for his accessible poetry that blended classic elements with contemporary sensibilities. Many of his poems were not only aesthetically pleasing, but were also socially conscious and deeply thought provoking. This month, a play titled Gangavatarana, exploring the life and literature of the Jnanpith awardee, is set to be staged at Ranga Shankara.

"It's an entertaining literary amalgamation that tells the story of Bendre while exploring his literary works. Audiences get to see Bendre as a poet, a family man, and most importantly as a generous humanist. He was someone who had expressed profound concerns about issues that we are currently experiencing, decades ago. He had spoken about environmental awareness, untouchability, poverty and hunger and so on," explains veteran thespian, actor and filmmaker Rajendra Karanth, who wrote and directed the play.

Apart from chronicling many famous anecdotes and incidents from Bendre's life, the play is also a reflection of today's materialistic society. It raises many serious questions about human potential and his ability to rise above misery. Unlike conventional plays, Gangavatarana features a plethora of musical and dance performances that prevent it from being dry. "Bendre's literary works cannot be constrained to a single artform. Over the years, his works have been adapted into musicals, and has been etched into public memory through Sugama Sangeetha. We wouldn't have been able to do justice to his legacy if we had just limited ourselves to a single format," Karanth explains, adding "It features dances choreographed by masters, all the various renditions of Bendre's poetry sung by some of the most popular singers in Kannada."

Originally staged in 2009, Gangavatarana features well-known names from Kannada television and film. Many of the original cast members, who were still college students during the play's initial run, have all gone on to establish successful careers over the years. "Rakesh Rajkumar who played the titular role was the producer of the recently released film Hostel Hudugaru. Meanwhile, Pramod Shetty is one of the most sought actors in the Kannada film industry. Except for Pramod, who was busy, the play still features almost all the original cast, with a few newcomers in smaller roles," Karanth says, adding that the play has gone through significant evolution in the last decade.

Originally, it was a 1.5 hour show, but over the years, the team has added new elements bringing the runtime to 1 hour and 50 minutes.

TADASANA CACTUS ARMS BACKBEND
(MOUNTAIN POSE CACTUS ARMS BACKBEND)

This is a mindful combination of Cactus Arms and gentle back bending in Tadasana (Mountain Pose) with feet hip-width apart. This pose is included in restorative yoga sequences & helps in relieving tension and stiffness in the neck and shoulder joints.

STEPS

- Start in Tadasana, place chin parallel to the floor, roll down shoulders and relax the facial muscles. Stay in this pose for a breath or two. Engage the leg muscles by gently lifting the kneecaps and firming your thighs.
- Inhale, open the arms on the sides at shoulder level, making them parallel to the floor. Exhale, bend the arms at the elbows into the Cactus, forming an L-shape on the sides.
- Elbows are in line with the shoulders and palms are in line with elbows, widen fingers and point them up. While forearms are perpendicular to the ground, feel the pectoral stretch with external rotation to the rotator cuff.
- Inhale, stretch upwards, moving into a gentle backbend. Take a slight back bend from the lumbar to the cervical spine, opening the chest and shoulders.
- Remain here for about six breaths or as per the body's capacity, looking at any point up or keeping your eyes closed.
- Inhale, broaden the chest and draw the shoulder blades close to each other. Exhale, tighten the triceps and biceps.
- While exhaling, release the backbend. Inhale, bring the arms back to the heart center in Cactus Arms Joined.
- Exhale, come back into Tadasana, relax and rest in the Three Part Breath Mountain Pose.

BENEFITS

- Helps to reduce strain on the neck and back.
- Opens the heart and frontal chest.
- Releases emotional blockages, cultivates self-acceptance, self-compassion and self-love.
- Boosts mood, increases vitality, and promotes a sense of lightness and joy.
- Make the shoulders and base of the arms strong.
- Improves range of motion of the shoulders, elbows and upper arms.
- Opens the rib cage, and upper back.
- Brings awareness and focus to manage body-breath connection.

The 'sin' and the English babble

ILLUSTRATION: SOURAV ROY

ON the first day of junior college, our English teacher walked in and wrote on the blackboard, "Communication skills in English", and dramatically underlined it for emphasis. That was the subject he was to teach.

He started: "If you do not pay attention in this class, and make a mess of the language..." and then he turned – again dramatically – and deleted 's' from 'skills' and removed 'in'. 'in'. What was left was: 'Communication kills English'. "That's what you will end up doing!" He then put the deleted alphabets together after an '=' sign in between. 'Communication kills English = sin'! "It is nothing less than a sin...," he said, adding, "....only hell will be your destination!"

Nice way to drive in the point of achieving perfection in a spoken language, with a scare that dreaded hell awaits you with a licence in the form of a 'sin' committed by messing it up.

If that had any truth in it, most of us Indians and more than half the world that was once part of the British empire, would be headed for hell.

The class itself was a microcosm of how English has imposed itself on us: a non-English teacher teaching non-English students how to perfectly speak the English language, without killing it and committing a "sin".

Today, English thrives, even as the "sin" is committed every moment in terms of mispronounced words, poor grammar, questionable diction, and imperfect sentence structuring.... both in spoken and written forms.

And yet, why blame anyone? It is our predicament. We are forced to resort to English, leaving our respective mother-tongues – in which we are more perfect in speech than in English – when we encounter someone who does not follow our language. It is common. English binds us, even if we kill it and commit the 'sin' as threatened by my English teacher. Doesn't matter if there is a Russell Peters or other stand-up comedians of his ilk who entertain their audiences by mimicking the way different Indians speak their English.

Why blame them at all? We ourselves have mimicked people who have said "Open the window, let the air force come in!", or a teacher sending a student out of class as punishment, while saying "I want you to be outstanding the class!"

Despite all the fun-poking, an increasing number of people speak English better these days. In fact, come to think of it, the spread of English in our country has forced us to commit 'sins' of killing our own languages. It is difficult to come across people – even rural folks – who can hold their native language without using English words or terms.

I have a friend who had a severe stammering problem when in college. It happened while speaking English, not his native language. It was so severe that he preferred not to speak for fear of exposing his condition. Later, he moved to the USA, and recently on a visit to India, he called me up. I was surprised to find him speaking English perfectly without stammering. On enquiring, he said, "In the USA, I started using the American accent while speaking English, and found that by doing so I could get rid of my stammering." It was a psychological problem that he suffered from trying to speak English, something that made him conscious about pronouncing words, making mistakes and ending up stammering while trying to express himself. By adding a strong foreign accent, he overcame it as it gave him ease and confidence in language delivery.

There is another friend in Bengaluru, unknown to the other friend, who used the same method using the British accent and achieved the same effect.

I am surprised at what people try out to master the English language. It is, after all, increasingly becoming a matter of survival, 'sin' or not!

From taking your kids out to spending time with your friends... Trampoline parks are attracting crowds from different age groups. Many say it's a great way of working out too

BOUNCING BACK

MONIKA MONALISA

WHEN Pooja Thakur decided to take her son for a fun adventurous outing, she took him to a trampoline park. Needless to say, the boy and his friends had a blast. "I see this craze among the children of going to the trampoline park with their friends. They have this fun slide and they play volleyball while they bounce off the trampoline. It is a lot of fun, just like a new form of amusement park. It works well for parents like me too since it's we are currently experiencing monsoons and parents are always worried about reducing the screen time for the children," says Thakur.

Tarandeep Singh Sekhon, chief business officer, of Bounce Inc India, also agrees with Thakur's theory on the popularity of Trampoline parks has definitely gone up and they have observed an increase in footfall at their Trampoline park. "After Mumbai, our second unit is in Bengaluru and we are seeing an increasing trend of people wanting to experience a trampoline park. Footfalls have definitely increased, and we are thrilled with the kind of response that we have gotten from the people of Bengaluru. While some are first-timers wanting to experience the adventure of the sport, there are repeat visitors who look at the experience not just as a recreation but also a physical workout," says Singh. He also mentions, "A mere 10 minutes of bouncing on a trampoline provides a better cardiovascular workout than 33 minutes of running. Additionally, trampolining improves coordination, agility, and body awareness."

Fashion stylist and fitness enthusiast Karishma Devnani, who recently visited a trampoline park at Garuda Mall along with her friends said that though intended to be a fun trip, it turned out to be a great form of cardio for her. "We wanted to visit it since everyone has been speaking about it. But it turned out to be a sort of workout because it was intense physical activity," recalls Devnani, who suggests wearing a stretchable and comfortable outfit while you are visiting a place like this.

With many trampoline places already existing in the city, there is another one coming up in Koramangala called Loco Bear. But Pratik Patwari, the owner of the company says there is always scope for new places in a city like Bengaluru. "People in Bengaluru are always on the lookout for trying something new. We are opening in Koramangala, which has a young crowd, and these sorts of places usually cater to crowds from that particular area," says Patwari, who is planning to launch the family entertainment hub sometime this month.

WHAT AFTER LOVE

THE wish for the happily ever after, eternally bonded relationship notwithstanding, the reality of relationships is that sometimes, relationships will expire. The glorification of the long-lasting relationship being what it is, we often find that relationships that end are often vilified. It need not be the case at all.

Not every relationship that ends was a mistake to begin with. Some relationships are for a season, others for a reason, as the saying goes. There are beautiful relationships that cannot last forever just because of other priorities in life, or extenuating circumstances. We meet some people at vulnerable times in our lives, and might start something though we don't really have the space for such a relationship in the long run. There may be friends with whom things spark but we may not really have what it takes to make a long term relationship of it.

LOVEOLOGY
Mahesh Natarajan
(The author is a counsellor with InnerSight)

In many such situations, these relationships naturally come to an end, and yet, we may not want to really move on from it altogether, and hold on to something. We end up asking ourselves, or even each other – Can we be friends? Can we be something more, or something less? Can we find some way to hold on to each other in some capacity for much longer?

There may be no hard feelings, maybe even a wistfulness – a feeling of right person, right place, wrong time, or some other permutation of right and wrong with respect to person, time and space. In that sense, love is truly a multi-dimensional miracle for which many things have to coincide across space and time for things to work. The miracle that needs to happen for feelings of love to happen is exactly what makes us long for it. We find it hard to let go, to move away. We seek to stay connected - maybe from a wishful place that if we stayed connected, perhaps in some time, it might become the right time, or if we could just take some effort, maybe we might end up at the right place together. We do not easily give up. Few goodbyes that we say are really goodbyes in that sense – we say, 'see you around' or even make some sort of tentative date hanging in the air for a distant future that may never come.

For a few, some sort of alchemy does occur and a relationship magically transforms into a friendship or a special bond where feelings exist without needing a relationship. They can care for each other, watch and rejoice as each falls in love with others and things happen in their lives, stay connected through it all, with lots of love and regard for each other without necessarily needing more. That is rare though. It takes a great deal of self-awareness and ability to finely tune ourselves. For most of us, it just feels safer to let go fully, move on and away from each other – not even the wish of a nostalgic reunion years away. And that's ok.
